Why Not Subsidize Poor For Hunger?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A welfare mother suggested to the Senate hunger committee Wednesday that if the federal government can subsidize a U.S. senator and others not to produce crops, "Why can't the poor be subsidized not to produce hunger?"

Testifying at a hearing in a movie theater in the heart of a Washington black slum, Mrs. Marty Green told the committee: "No longer will we see our children go hungry. The war on hunger has just begun."

Her reference to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., one of the country's biggest cotton producers, was apparently based on his participation in federal programs that pay him for taking land out of production.

Mrs. Frieda Jackson, a welfare recipient with 10 children, contended that many children who should be getting free lunches don't.

"Our children can not learn and read and spell and be American citizens as they should be if they don't have food," she said.

Mrs. Mosella Johnson spoke without notes. "I didn't write out testimony because I don't have to put on paper what I live with every day," she said.

"I'm not going to see my children hungry." But her welfare payments are not enough to provide food and a special diet she needs because of illness, she said.

"I'm a mother who's able to take care of her children, and I'm asking for my rights," she appealed. "Please give them to me."

Mrs. Johnson said present requirements forbidding welfare payments when an able-bodied male resides in a house have the effect of forcing husbands to leave.

"They can't support their families so they walk out," she said.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who presided at the hearing in the absence of ailing Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said, "There is no room for that in our society. This has been a very forceful reminder for all of us."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said it is obvious that a major increase in federal spending is needed.

Floods Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain fell in some sections of the Midwest flood zone Wednesday while rivers running high forced more residents from their homes.

Floods coursing downstream after record snowfalls have caused more than 12,000 persons to move, caused damages of more than $5 million and resulted in eight deaths in Minnesota.

Most of the 12,000 residents in the flood path have moved to higher ground in Minot, N.D., as the Souris River edged up toward a crest predicted for Monday.

Most of the 165 residents of Perley, Minn., left their houses and businesses while water 10 inches deep covered the highest points in the community. No dikes protect the village, which is a mile from the channel of the Red River of the North.

Rain fell in parts of Iowa, southern Minnesota and western Wisconsin and dampened areas in the Dakotas. The fall was light in most regions.

Disturbances Persist

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protest and disorder persisted on major college campuses Wednesday, ranging from a strong move to end secret research at Stanford to an assault on the president's office at Queens College.

At Harvard, the faculty prepared to vote Thursday on a resolution that would virtually abolish the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, and at Columbia Negro students called for a one-day strike, also Thursday.

into the office of the president, Joseph McMurray, and other offices. Officials barricaded the doors with desks and filing cabinets, one professor said. McMurray's office said the students did not get into his office but did break into several others.

The students were demanding withdrawal of criminal trespass charges against 38 students and a faculty member arrested in an April 1 sit-in. The administration announced Wednesday dropping charges against three students who were allegedly involved in the ouster from campus of a General Electric Co. recruiter. The April 1 sit-in was a protest against action taken against the three students.

issue has become a central factor in the student protest and strike, in its fifth day Wednesday.

The Columbia Students' Afro-American Society announced plans for a one-day strike on the Morningside Heights campus. Earlier, 16 Negro students walked out of the Columbia admissions office, ending a sit-in that began last Monday.

These students were demanding changes in admissions procedures for minority group candidates. They left in the face of police (Turn To Page Eight) (See "Disorders")

The National Student Association said Wednesday it is challenging in federal court the constitutionality of legislation that would authorize colleges to cut off federal aid to students who engage in disruptive protests.

At Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif., the Faculty Senate voted in favor of adopting a university policy against secret research.

Kenneth S. Pitzer, Stanford president, endorsed the vote, saying: "It is entirely reasonable to press toward the elimination of secrecy."

This action came as students continued a sit-in begun last Wednesday in the university's Applied Electronics Laboratory on campus, where classified military research is conducted.

Queens College students in New York City, escalating a week-long sit-in, tried to break into the office of the president, Joseph McMurray, and other offices. Officials barricaded the doors with desks and filing cabinets, one professor said. McMurray's office said the students did not get into his office but did break into several others.

The administration announced Wednesday dropping charges against three students who were allegedly involved in the ouster from campus of a General Electric Co. recruiter. The April 1 sit-in was a protest against action taken against the three students.

One faculty member in the president's office, Dr. Nathaniel Siegel, sociology chairman, said by telephone there were about 100 students in the building.

"They may well starve us out," he said. "But most of us are overweight, anyway."

Harvard remained quiet.

A special meeting of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences scheduled a meeting Thursday to vote on a motion calling for a drastic restructuring of the Harvard ROTC program.

The details of the motion are so restrictive, a spokesman said, that the military might find it unacceptable. The ROTC issue has become a central factor in the student protest and strike, in its fifth day Wednesday.

Students Protest In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — In a stunning setback for Czechoslovakia's Communist reformers, the party's top leadership gave a clean bill of health Wednesday night to 10 important comrades who supported last August's Soviet-bloc invasion.

The party's Supreme Executive Committee declared the 10 had been "unjustly slandered" and added that many more party faithful in the lower ranks had been subjected to abuse and even terror.

Without accusing anyone by name, the committee made clear that it considered the anti-Moscow reformers to blame.

In a demonstration of solidarity with the party's beleaguered reformers, more than 2,000 students at Prague's Agricultural College struck their classes Wednesday.

The students issued a proclamation protesting government measures taken since the anti-Soviet demonstrations in March.

They protested too, "the strengthening of Soviet armed forces in Czechoslovakia and demonstration of military strength prior to an important party session."

The 190-member Communist Party Central Committee meets Thursday in what many see as a trial of strength between the reformist leadership and the hard-line party members.

The strike proclamation was posted at the suburban university and in Wenceslas Square in downtown Prague. Later police tore it down.

"We regard Soviet foreign policy toward Czechoslovakia, especially since Aug. 21, 1968 (date of the Warsaw pact invasion) as the true cause of anti-Soviet actions," the proclamation read.

"We regard restrictions imposed on the press, radio and television as an act... directed against us all... we are striking to show to ourselves and the public that we are not, as yet, morally dead."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A bill aimed at curbing campus unrest and a series designed to end alleged discrimination in trade unions were introduced Wednesday in the Illinois House.

The campus bill, offered by Republican Majority Whip Jack Walker of Lansing, would require the filing of a "policy on demonstrations" by all state colleges and universities.

The filing would be made with the legislative audit commission and the governor. In the event of a student disturbance there would be public notice given that the policy was being violated.

If the disturbance continued, the bill states, the auditor would withhold all payments under terms of state scholarships or grant-in-aid or per capita support for students involved.

"This bill would require the small percentage of insurrectionist students who ruin things for the rest to put their money where their mouths are," Walker said.

Three bills filed by Reps. Harold Washington and Raymond Ewell, Chicago Democrats, proposed to make an unfair labor practice punishable by a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment up to six months.

The most significant provision, they said, would be to make racial discrimination against apprentices in the skilled trades a criminal offense.

Also introduced were bills to control sales of tear gas and Mace and tighten controls of explosives.

Mystery Resolved U.S.'s Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said late Wednesday intensive search operations are continuing but concern has deepened for the lives of 31 men aboard a Navy plane shot down by North Korean fighters.

The Pentagon confirmed, after two days of studying the evidence, that the plane, an unarmed, propeller driven EC121 electronics intelligence craft, was shot down Monday over the Sea of Japan.

"There is no word of any survivors," the Pentagon statement said. But it added: "The search continues."

Search and rescue aircraft and ships now on the scene include fighter combat cover, the Pentagon said, and will be joined by two more Navy destroyers, the Sterett and the Mahan.

Weather in the widening area of search operations was reported generally favorable.

President Nixon met for an hour with the National Security Council and later conferred for an hour and a half with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R.

Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

The White House press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, declined to speculate on whether a Nixon pronouncement on what appeared to be a new international crisis might be forthcoming. Ziegler said only that the President was following the situation closely.

Rogers noted that Nixon is holding a news conference Friday at which time "we will know the facts more precisely."

The Pentagon's chief spokesman, Daniel Z. Henkin, announced that "all evidence now available to us, including North Korean claims and debris sightings, leads us to believe that the aircraft was shot down by North Korean aircraft."

Henkin said the electronics-jammed plane never violated North Korean airspace.

The Pentagon's insistence that the plane had a legal right to be where it was indicated Nixon has made at least a tentative decision on the type of U.S. response to be made.

In answer to written questions, the Pentagon said there was no indication from radio transmissions or other means that the North Koreans had attempted to force the EC121 to land.

The plane's flight was scheduled to last 8½ hours. The Pentagon said there was no radio contact with the aircraft reporting trouble before it was lost.

The Pentagon said the plane was not conducting any mission for the Central Intelligence Agency or the National Security Agency. It also denied the EC121's mission was a substitute for Pueblo-type operations and said the flights were not stepped up after the Navy intelligence ship was seized in January 1968.

On Capitol Hill, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of

Montana raised a question of whether Nixon was personally aware of the intelligence activity in which the Navy plane was involved.

"I do not believe President Nixon was any more aware of the mission being carried out by this plane than President Johnson was of the patrol being made by the Pueblo," Mansfield told a reporter. He referred to the intelligence ship seized by North Korea during the Lyndon B. Johnson administration.

Mansfield said all of the various U.S. intelligence activities should be coordinated under a White House command unit reporting to the President daily.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said this is "getting to be an extremely serious matter," but he avoided recommending any immediate action.

Fulbright called for a briefing of all senators on the incident by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

The Navy alerted the carrier Kitty Hawk and two destroyers shortly after their arrival at Hong Kong from Vietnam stations and sent them steaming out on a secret mission. The destroyers were the Black and the Knox.

Sources in Korea said the U.S. Air Force and South Korean military units were placed on special alert shortly after North Korea announced it had downed the U.S. plane.

Twenty-six search and rescue aircraft fanned out from U.S. bases in Japan, Guam, Okinawa and the Philippines in a massive search for possible survivors.

North Vietnam meanwhile joined North Korea in broadcasting congratulations to the gunners who downed the lumbering, unarmed American plane "with one stroke."

'Your Son Rode The Plane Shot Down Monday'

MORTON GROVE, Ill. (AP) — When Navy officials rang the doorbell Wednesday at the Leroy Prindle home in this northwest suburb of Chicago, Mrs. Prindle knew the purpose of their visit.

They came to tell her that her son, Richard, 22, was aboard a Navy intelligence plane intercepted and shot down Monday by the North Koreans over the Sea of Japan.

Mrs. Prindle said she had a premonition her son was one of the 31 crewmen aboard when she heard the news Tuesday, although Richard usually did not ride the plane.

His job, she said, was to inspect its engines before takeoff. Mrs. Prindle remained optimistic about Richard's fate and said:

"He's alive. I know he's alive. He survived Vietnam and an auto accident and I just know he's alive."

The Prindles said their son had been in the Navy since January, 1967, and had not been home since he left for Vietnam that September. He was stationed in Japan for the last eight months. He was due to be discharged in September.

"This is bad news," said Leroy Prindle, an employee of International Harvester Co. "Those planes have no fighting power. They couldn't fight back."

The parents sat silently by the telephone, as they read their son's last letter, which they received April 6.

"I'm fine and back in Japan," he wrote. "Hope you had a nice Easter. I bought Dad a birthday present. I hope he likes it."

As he waits by the telephone, Leroy Prindle doesn't know which will come first — the call from the Navy announcing the fate of his son, or the birthday present still moving through the mails.

Two-Fold Trip Unprecedented

Pope Going To Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — Pope Paul VI will make an unprecedented visit in June to Geneva, the city of 16th century Protestant reformer John Calvin, to address the International Labor Organization and visit the World Council of Churches.

Official purpose of the trip is the 50th anniversary of the 115-nation International Labor Organization — ILO — but it seemed clear that a meeting with leading officials of the World Council was at least as important to the Pontiff.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, an American, is secretary-general of the World Council, which comprises 234 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches. He cabled the Pope that he "warmly welcomes" the intention to visit headquarters here.

"Such a visit cannot be emphasized growing fellowship among Christians, and on behalf of the officers of the World Council of Churches I am happy to extend a fraternal invitation," Dr. Blake said.

At the ILO which has members in all parts of the world including Communist countries, the American director general, David A. Morse, said "His Holiness has again demonstrated his profound concern for the welfare of the working people of the entire world." The visit of the pontiff to the 50th anniversary conference opening June 4 will be of "historic significance," Morse said.

"Pope Paul's presence will underscore the need for intensified effort on the part of the governments, workers and employers to further social justice by raising working and living standards, by combating discrimination of every kind and by promoting the economic and social progress of developing countries," added Morse.

Pope Paul VI

The ILO was set up in 1919 as an agency of the League of Nations. In 1946, it became the first specialized agency of the United Nations. It seeks to improve labor conditions and living standards and promote economic stability in the world.

The Pope met with Dr. Blake at the Vatican last January to discuss future cooperation between the Roman Catholic Church and the council.

Calvin, a student of theology and law, experienced a "sudden conversion" in 1533 and abandoned Catholicism. He became a Protestant leader and held that the Bible was the sole source of God's law and man's duty was to teach it. From his teachings grew Calvinism, the system in the Protestant Reformed churches.

The Pope's plans to address the labor conference and to visit the World Council headquarters here were announced in separate messages from the Vatican, spokesmen for both international organizations said.

Jury Asks Decision Guidance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy returned to court Wednesday and asked instructions relating to a verdict of second-degree murder.

Judge Herbert V. Walker reviewed his original instructions regarding murder and its reduction in degree when there is a diminished mental capacity on the part of a defendant.

It was the first time the jury had returned to the court since receiving the case late Monday. Sirhan was brought down from his 13th floor jail cell for the session.

The judge read the jury a paragraph he said would explain better the point they were asking.

The instructions said if they found the defendant's mental capacity substantially reduced "to the extent that you have reasonable doubt you can not convict him of willful, deliberate murder in the first degree but you can convict him of murder in the second degree."

After hearing the judge, the jury returned to deliberations.

The penalty for second-degree murder is five years to life. The penalty for first degree may be either life or death in the gas chamber.

Russell Parsons, a defense attorney, told newsmen earlier that Sirhan envisions himself in some prisoner exchange with the Arab world if he gets life for the Kennedy assassination.

The 25-year-old Sirhan, said Parsons, regards himself as a hero in his native Jordan.

The defense claimed during his 14-week murder trial that Sirhan was rabidly pro-Arab and regarded Kennedy as a supporter of the Israeli cause in the Middle East conflict.

Sirhan has in mind, Parsons said, the 1962 exchange of American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, imprisoned in Russia on espionage charges, for Col. Rudolf Abel, who was serving 30 years in this country as a Soviet master spy.

Towering Black Leader

In an active and useful life that spans eight decades, A. Philip Randolph was a leader in the field of civil rights before the fathers of some of today's self-appointed black spokesmen were born.

In the 1920s, he fought for integration against the Back-to-Africa movement of Marcus Garvey, just as today he opposes the movement for black separatism.

In 1925, he began the long and arduous campaign to organize the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, which met fierce resistance from the railway companies and became the central focus of the early civil rights struggle.

Thanks largely to Randolph, who among other things is a vice president of the AFL-CIO, there are today two million black trade unionists who have achieved economic dignity and job security.

In 1941, Randolph's plan for a massive Negro march on Washington convinced President Roosevelt to sign an executive order banning discrimination in war industries and setting up the Fair Employment Practices Committee.

In 1948, his influence and authority were behind another executive order by another president, Harry Truman, initiating integration in the armed forces.

In 1963, he conceived and directed the famous March on Washington, one of the landmarks in the civil rights struggle.

A. Philip Randolph was 80 on April 15 and remains passionately committed to the principles of democracy, non-violence, integration and economic equality.

Those who demand more teaching about black heroes in the nation's schools could do far worse than begin with the study of this man's life.

Communication

To the Editor:

I am writing you regarding the article which appeared in the Jacksonville Journal on Sunday, April 13, entitled "Murrayville Mayor Says 'Bring a Gun.'" Since I was in Chicago at the Illinois Public Health Association meeting the latter part of the week, the first time I became aware of the dog biting incident at Murrayville was when I read the story in your paper. Articles such as this one usually serve a worthwhile purpose, but apparently some misinformation was given in this one.

First, a check with the county rabies inspector this morning indicated that the dog in question was picked up and brought for impoundment on Saturday, April 12. This was reported to me by our nurse who works the Murrayville area and our supervising nurse before I checked with the rabies inspector's office.

Secondly, the article stated that the health department informed Mrs. O'Rourke that if her mother had lived somewhere else the health department would have done something. None of the personnel from our office gave this information. In fact, one of our nurses checked with Dr. Paul Schnurrenburger, chief public health veterinarian of the Illinois Department of Public Health to ascertain whether our responsibilities had been fulfilled during my absence.

Finally, our responsibilities as a local health department as defined by the Illinois Department of Public Health are fourfold as follows:

1. Encourage, promote, or assist programs for the control or eradication of the zoonoses from the human and animal populations.

2. Inform physicians, veterinarians, and the public concerning the morbidity potential and economic significance of diseases transmissible from animal to man. Stimulate the detection, diagnosis, and reporting of such diseases. (Our records indicate that in the past four years, 12 articles were published in the Journal Courier regarding rabies; over 7,000 school children and adults were presented programs on rabies; and 7,000 pieces of rabies literature were given out.)

3. Maintain close liaison with veterinarians active within the jurisdiction, encouraging and assisting in the diagnosis, reporting, and prevention of animal diseases of public health importance. On several occasions our department has arranged for state police relay of animal heads to the state health department laboratory where speed was necessary. We also distribute rabies vaccine to doctors for human exposure and give shots at our office when requested by the doctor.

4. Maintain a close working liaison with the county rabies inspector, encouraging and supporting programs for the prevention of animal rabies through education, stray control, and vaccination. Take steps to ensure that all animal bites are reported, investigated, and brought under medical attention. (This is provided for in Section 12 of the Illinois Rabies Law as a responsibility of the rabies inspector. Our department is not given police power for this purpose.)

Though there appeared to be some levity in the article regarding Mrs. O'Rourke's problem, it is a matter of gravity to us since we know and have published numerous articles regarding the low incidence of rabies inoculations in the county for the past several years.

Very truly yours,

Legacy Of Landslide Poses Problem For Dems

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The legacy of a landslide falls due next year and, ironically, it poses a problem for the Democrats who won it.

Democratic senators who won their terms in former President Lyndon B. Johnson's electoral blitz of 1964 must run again in 1970, and the Republican National Committee says the GOP has a chance of winning control of the Senate for the first time in more than two decades.

Democratic analysts are frankly worried.

Normally, an off-year election produces congressional gains for the party which does not control the White House, but in 1970 the arithmetic and the circumstances could work against tradition.

There are 33 Senate seats at stake, 25 of them now Democratic, only eight Republican.

Democrats now control the Senate, 58 to 42. But a gain of eight seats—making the parties even—would put the GOP in charge because Vice President Spiro T. Agnew would cast the decisive vote in a tie.

Frequently, an off-year election casts the presidential party in a defensive role. But the Democrats are not sure that will be the case next year.

One official at the Democratic National Committee already is advising Sen. Fred R. Harris, the chairman, that the party should brace for a GOP on the offensive.

This Democratic strategist maintains the party should map its campaign plans on the assumption that President Nixon will succeed in settling the two biggest problems he faces: The war in Vietnam and inflation at home.

If that is the situation when campaign time comes, he says, "the Republicans will not only not be on the defensive in 1970 but quite on the contrary will be robustly on the attack."

Furthermore, a Democratic analysis of the 1964 returns indicates another problem—Republicans who won seats in that election without the undertow of Sen. Barry Goldwater's losing ticket, while Democrats rode with the presidential tide. Johnson polled 43 million votes, Goldwater 27 million.

Outside the Deep South, only five Democratic senators elected in 1964 ran ahead of the Johnson ticket. The others, presumably, benefited from the presidential returns.

In four of their victories, Democratic analysts believe, the coattail power of Johnson's massive showing was the decisive factor.

The Senate elections they put in this category are those of Sens. Howard Cannon of Nevada, Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Stephen M. Young of Ohio.

Against that background, Democrats are advising their Senate candidates to make an early start on the 1970 race, not only to build for the November election, but also in hopes of averting troublesome primary contests.

The strategy-makers also counsel concentration on the suburban precincts, where President Nixon made his best showing last November.

Miles-Apart Miss. Dems Set To Fight For Party Tag

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
JACKSON, Miss. (NEA) — Gov. John Bell Williams' "regulators" and the nationally recognized "loyalist" Democrats are moving toward an early collision — with the courts the likely arena of battle.

The Williams wing is unquestionably the most estranged element of the Democratic party in the entire United States. Yet the loyalists candidly acknowledge that he and Mississippi's two senators, James Eastland and John Stennis, "still call the shots" in the state.

The loyalist leaders, Negroes Charles Evers and Aaron Henry, do not intend, however, that this supremacy shall go unchallenged for long.

There could be an early court test to decide which group is entitled to bear the label "Democratic." The loyalists are eager for it, and Williams says he wants it, too.

But if that issue somehow is not dealt with quickly, the clash will surely come no later than next spring.

Stennis seeks re-election in 1970. In Mississippi, such a candidate (the same goes for U.S. House candidates) must "qualify" before the state's party executive committee. The question this time will be: Which one?

Henry as state chairman heads the loyalist committee. Williams named his own under leadership of Leon Bramlett, Clarksdale.

Evers says flatly that if Stennis tries to "qualify" with the Williams committee, the loyalists will go to court immediately to bar him from running as a Democrat. The five congressional candidates would be similarly tested if they took that course.

The matter is not an easy one for Stennis to resolve. The word here is that he has been having talks about it with Democratic National Chairman Fred Harris. The latter, indeed, is trying to straighten out the whole Mississippi mess so a 1972 Democratic presidential nominee will have some hope of carrying the state. Hubert Humphrey drew just 23 per cent of its 1968 vote total.

Right now the two contending factions are miles apart. Williams in an earlier interview said he and his supporters would not compromise, that the national party has "forced Mississippi to be an island unto itself."

Evers, speaking for the loyalists' view of the regulars, says: "We're going after them . . . We're going to take it (power) from them legally and politically."

The loyalists' problem, aside from the special roadblocks thrown up by Williams, is the thinness of their white support. There is some, including prosperous planters Oscar and Andrew Carr of Clarksdale and young Hodding Carter III, Greenville editor and publisher. But the numbers are relatively few.

One big hang-up, expressed often in private by Mississippians anxious for some sort of accommodation, is the fact that Evers and Henry are also top state leaders of the NAACP. It is argued that this gives the loyalist leadership a "civil rights" cast which inevitably makes it difficult to win more white support.

Some white loyalists think it was a mistake to name both Evers and Henry to top party positions, and that prospects of gaining white recruits would have been brighter with a white state chairman sharing authority with Evers, the national committeeman.

Evers rejects the notion that the leadership is weighted too heavily black and that its concurrent civil rights activity is a bar.

"They're not the Democrats if they're not willing to come in."

One Mississippi observer believes that the issue cannot begin to be settled until some potent elected white public official, like Stennis or perhaps Lt. Gov. Charles Sullivan, the present favorite to succeed Williams in 1971, moves toward the loyalists.

At the same time, it is contended that such a move would prove fruitless if it did not pull large numbers of presently unsympathetic whites along. For that to happen, it is said, the Evers-Henry faction must be receptive to many who still may be segregationist in outlook.

Ann Landers:

Behavior Mystifying

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 25 years. We have four fine children and a comfortable home. Our marriage is far from perfect but I consider it as good as most. Last night Vernon insulted me in a way I shall never forget. He brought home a safe with a lock on it bigger than my head.

When we got ready for bed, Vernon took his billfold out of his pocket, scooped up his small change, removed his cuff links and watch and put everything in the safe. He didn't say one word the whole time, just gave me sort of a triumphant look and turned off the light.

Ann, I have never taken a thing in my life that didn't belong to me. I wouldn't dream of snooping through Vernon's pockets. Why he chose to insult me this way is a total mystery. Our house has never been robbed so he can't be worried about burglars.

Vernon has always been on the quiet side and kept to himself. He is 52 years old and seems to be in good health. What do you make of this?—Mystified

Dear Mys: The man sounds unwell. If this strange behavior persists, urge him to see a doctor for a checkup. And be sure to inform the doctor about your husband's strange behavior.

Vernon might be going through the male menopause.

Dear Ann Landers: I read an article in the paper that burned me up. It went something like this: "Are you responsible for making a thief out of a perfectly nice kid?" The article said that whenever a person leaves his keys in the ignition of his car he is encouraging some "perfectly nice kid" to be a thief.

Of all the crackpot ideas, this one takes the cake. What in the world has happened to good old-fashioned honesty? Teenagers behave according to the standards they are raised by. The values learned as young children are deeply ingrained by the time they are 12 years of age. When I was 16 I wouldn't have touched a dollar if a million of 'em were stacked up in front of me simply because I was taught early not to take things that didn't belong to me.

Now they've twisted things up so the person who leaves the keys in the car is just as guilty as the kid who steals it. How crazy can the sociologists get?—Born Too Late

Dear Born: I agree, some kids wouldn't dream of stealing a car, keys or not, but the point of the article was that we shouldn't make car stealing

Few People Give Her Trouble When Marshal Straps On Gun

By CELIENE NOLD BRUCE
Associated Press Writer
IOWA (AP)—Esther Winder is a sedate, elderly homemaker until trouble brews. Then she straps gun to hip, leaps on her motorcycle and heads off to meet the trouble head on.

Esther, who's approaching 70, has been the town marshal of this quiet little suburb of Iowa City since 1934, and folks say few people give her trouble when she dons her leather jacket and pants and motorcycle helmet.

Off the motorcycle, Esther "just looks like a little old lady," said Mrs. Russell Ross, wife of a former University Heights mayor, "but when she gets on that thing, look out."

A stop sign was placed at the town's main intersection a few years ago, and the marshal sat astride her motorcycle to nab violators. There were plenty.

"Motorists were so busy looking at her, they didn't see the stop sign," recalled Mrs. Ross. Esther's husband, Roy, a retired businessman, said he has always liked her police work but he doesn't think much of the motorcycle. "Riding on that back seat, that's no fun at all," he notes.

For night calls and winter work Mrs. Winder abandons her sleek silver cycle for a bright red 1960 Studebaker with a red light on top. "No siren," she pointed out. "They don't want any noise here."

The marshal also has dress to fit the season—black leather jacket and pants for winter, white leather for summer.

Mrs. Winder said University Heights, which has a population of some 1,300 including many employees of nearby University of Iowa, is filled with "good people."

Although her duties are limited mostly to traffic control, particularly on university football Saturdays, she has memories of more exciting assignments.

One night she received a complaint that a drunken couple was having a violent fight. Esther donned her uniform, grabbed her pearl-handled revolver and went to the scene.

"She's kind of impressive in that outfit," said Ross, her former boss. "She just knocked on the door, marched in and told them to stop fighting or she'd arrest them. They stopped."

Winder said he always accompanies his wife on night calls but has never had to come to her aid. A big bloodhound named Portia also accompanies her.

Mrs. Winder has had an interest in law enforcement since childhood. Her father was town marshal in tiny Ackley, Iowa, her birthplace, and her son is a security guard at the Iowa Men's Reformatory.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Heavy Coffee Drinking Is Bad for the Heart

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—About how many cups of coffee can a woman in her late 60s safely drink in a day? How would an excess affect her?

A—For moderate coffee drinking, you can allow yourself three or four cups a day; 10 or more will irritate your heart and cause skipped beats. Even five cups a day over a period of years will increase the risk of coronary heart disease. It may also cause insomnia, headache and nervous tension.

Q—I have heard that if percolated coffee is warmed over it will cause hardening of the arteries. Is this true?

A—No.

Q—I drink a lot of tea. Is tea constipating?

A—No.

Q—Are low-calorie colas habit forming? Do they really cause a loss of weight?

A—All cola drinks contain about one-third as much caffeine as an equal amount of coffee. Caffeine is not habit forming in the strictest sense but most persons who regularly use drinks that contain caffeine become dependent on them. Low-calorie foods or drinks of any kind will not directly cause you to lose weight. Their only claim is that they will not help you to gain.

Q—In a recent column you recommended a course in progressive relaxation for persons who are overly tense. What does it consist of?

A—The original work on this subject is covered in a book by Dr. Edmund Jacobson, entitled "You Must Relax." Although this book is now out of print, it is available in some public libraries. Books on this subject by one of Dr. Jacobson's co-workers, Dr. S.W. Gutwirth, are excellent, too.

Q—I am a girl, 18. Recently I read that women who are susceptible to the herpes virus that causes cold sores are very likely to have mentally retarded babies. Is this true?

A—An attack of German measles occurring in the first three months of pregnancy may cause some type of birth defect in the newborn. There is at present no evidence that any other virus disease in the mother will cause any mental or physical defects in the baby. Besides, practically everyone is susceptible to the herpes virus.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

One of the most interesting chapters in "Modern Bridge Bidding Complete" is headed, "When Not to Count Roth Points."

It belongs in any book on bidding although the heading might be changed to "When Not to Count Points."

According to Roth and Rubens, the time not to count points is when you have a good play for some contract. In such cases they say, "Bid your game or slam and see what happens."

Suppose you open one spade with the South hand. You hope your partner will respond and you'll be heading for a slam if he shows any signs of life. But he passes and East reopens with a double.

You know your partner may have a blank hand but you may

Announcing the first car of the '70s at 1960 prices.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all—but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price... but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?

A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?

A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?

A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?

A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electronic wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls... important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?

A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?

A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?

A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?

A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a hallway. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?

A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?

A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?

A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?

A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points... plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?

A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight... power... stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?

A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's light, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?

A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is... right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's... Fairlanes... Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's... the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department N-50, Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the car. Price does not include: white sidewall tires, $32.00; dealer preparation charge, if any; transportation charges, state and local taxes.

What Is It About Women That Annoys Men?

Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Ill., Apr. 17, 1969

Today's Crossword Puzzle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What is it about women that annoys men?

While most men admire women, or pretend to for one reason or another, that admiration isn't altogether whole-hearted. There are some things about the feminine mystique that the male mind dislikes, resents, envies or is baffled by.

A number of men asked recently to state what they felt was wrong with the female sex expressed a wide variety of misgivings. Here are a few of the more interesting replies:

"Women? Bah, humbugs!" "They are so unpredictable. If you try to surprise and please them by bringing them home a box of candy, they tell you they've just gone on a diet. If you bring them roses because you know they've always liked roses, they want to know why you didn't bring chrysanthemums because chrysanthemums go better with the new draperies."

"When they are too dumb to know what's really going on, they pretend they do by trying to look mysterious."

"The only girl who annoyed me was the one who always said no to everything I ever asked her until the day I asked her to marry me. Then she really gave the wrong answer. She said yes." "What's wrong with women? That's a good question. Pull up a chair, son—this is going to take all afternoon."

"The worst thing about them is that, like politicians, they are born fence straddlers. No matter what happens and how it turns out, they always manage to be in a position to claim they were right. A man will sometimes admit he was wrong, a woman—never."

"I think their worst trait is the mean revenge they take on a man. If he keeps them waiting six months before he proposes to them, they get even by making him wait on them hand and foot for the next 40 or 50 years."

"Personally, the only real fault I find with my wife is that her snoring keeps me awake all night, and the next morning she claims she didn't sleep a wink because of the street noises outside. When I tell her she was snoring, she calls me a liar."

"They cheat at cards—even if you're only paying penny poker."

"Women are born arrogant. The only thing that teaches them humility is wrinkles, and if they can afford to get their faces lifted they never get humble."

"All of them are too talky. They insist on thinking out loud when they have nothing on their minds. The less they have to say, the more determined they are to say it."

But the most common criticism of women voiced by most men was the adage that has summed up male bewilderment on this subject for perhaps centuries:

"You can't get along with 'em, and you can't get along without 'em."

Proper Rinsing a Must For Fluffy Bath Towels

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Mrs. J.R.P., who has stiff bath towels, that according to home extension agents the major reason for this is that the detergents, softeners and so on are not properly rinsed out. Check the last deep rinse just before it spins out. If cloudy, the clothes are not really clean. Run the load through another deep rinse or perhaps a whole cycle of clear water only. A longer spin cycle may be needed for towels and other heavy things.

To recondition stiff clothes, a complete washing with water softener (after a regular wash)

HOPPER & HAMM

Sandra Floor Covering,
Armstrong Floor Products

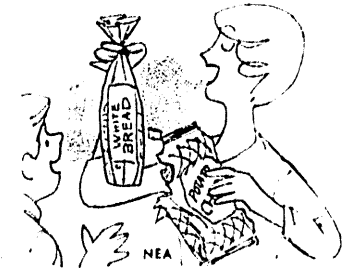

can help get them really clean. Drying clean towels in a breeze or in a dryer also will make them softer.—MRS. C.H.M.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J.R.P. says she uses bleach and water softeners even when she has a water softener. Her main problem would seem to come from the fact that the softener is undersized and not regenerating often enough for their water usage.—A.P.L.

DEAR READERS—A laundry laboratory stresses the fact that the amount of detergent used should be followed JUST as given on the package. Various detergents have bleaches, brighteners and so on that affect the results. Following directions as to amounts is very important. Also, experiment with the number of towels put in the dryer at one time. Too many or too few can make a difference in the texture after drying.—POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I wish someone would tell me how to put the buttons on the back of my couch in place. I want to replace them so I can recover the couch. Thank you.—LINDA

20 AT BAPTIST CLASS POTLUCK IN ROODHOUSE

ROODHOUSE — Twenty members attended the Thursday evening potluck dinner meeting of the Della Philathea class of the First Baptist church held in the church fellowship room with Mrs. R. S. Bess and Miss Florence Whitworth serving as hostesses.

The program, "Youth's Challenges Today" was given by a guest, Mrs. Clem Coats. The remainder of the evening was spent working on surgical pads.

W. W. Wilkinson is expected to return home soon from Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, where he underwent eye surgery.

Mrs. W. H. Barrow and Miss Min Peyl, Peoria, are visitors in the home of the former's mother-in-law, Mrs. A. H. Barrow.

Wives Fly To Eastern Letdown

HONG KONG (AP) — Forty-six U.S. Navy wives, some of whom had been saving money for a year for the trip, flew to Hong Kong Wednesday to visit with their husbands aboard the Kitty Hawk only to find that the carrier had been called to duty by the Korean crisis.

A Navy spokesman said the wives of 43 officers and 3 enlisted men aboard the flattop had planned to spend a week with their husbands during the big ship's scheduled rest and recreation visit from Vietnam duty.

But the Kitty Hawk and two accompanying destroyers, the Black and Knox, pulled out shortly after 1 a.m. Thursday on an alert triggered by the shooting down of an American reconnaissance plane by North Korea.

Eunice Richmond of Chula Vista, Calif., said she was one of 42 wives who arrived in a special group flight originated by Japan Air Lines in California.

Four others, she said, flew out separately.

"For some of our group," Mrs. Richmond said, "the trip took the savings of more than a year."

"For all of us, getting to see our husbands, if only for a few short days, was something we had been hoping for and looking forward to for months and months."

Many wives, angry and confused, refused to talk to reporters.

"You must understand their reaction," explained Barbara Enoch of Chula Vista. "This happened so quickly and came as such a disappointment to some that they just haven't had time to adjust to it."

Mrs. Enoch said the wives were "individually pretty mixed up tonight. Some want to turn around and fly back home tomorrow. Some want to stay a couple days. . ."

Frank McCartney Dies, Rites To Be Held In Pike

PITTSFIELD — Frank McCartney, 70, well-known Pike County farmer and real estate broker, died at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday at Illini hospital in Pittsfield. He moved from Sumner Hill to Pittsfield four and a half years ago.

Born Nov. 23, 1898, he was the son of Henry and Miriam Webster McCartney. He was married Feb. 28, 1922 to the former Isabelle McGreevy, who survives.

'Silent Prayer' Law Signed By Governor Ogilvie

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie signed into law Wednesday the "silent prayer" bill for school children.

The new law, effective July 1, authorizes a period of silence for reflection or prayer at the beginning of each class day in grade and high schools.

Sen. John Lanigan, R-Chicago, introduced the bill in protesting U.S. Supreme Court rulings against prayer in public schools.

"They couldn't strike back at us but they sure as hell could against South Korea," was one officer's reaction. Some military men also felt that North Korea was deliberately trying to provoke the United States.

One possible response, officers said, would be for the United States to single out and bomb one North Korean MIG fighter base—preferably the one where the attacking jets were located.

Any American planes sent on such a mission undoubtedly would encounter stiff resistance. North Korea has an elaborate air defense system with surface-to-air missiles as well as the latest Soviet-made MIG21 fighters. Its air force totals some 450 fighters and bombers.

"You just can't overlook all that," this officer said. The EC121 had flown out of Atsugi, Japan, on what Henkin called a routine reconnaissance mission over the Sea of Japan.

Pentagon sources said the plane's sophisticated monitoring gear was capable of picking up radar messages and pinpointing radar installations.

Henkin said standing instructions for this kind of mission prohibit such aircraft from approaching any closer than 40 nautical miles from North Korea. In this particular case, the EC121 commander was told to stay at least 50 miles out.

of a court restraining order, although the order was not actually served.

Just before the strike plans were announced, a Columbia spokesman said the peaceful demonstration "showed that these problems can be worked out without disruptive confrontation."

The Afro-American spokesman said: "The time has come for people to choose sides. It seems the time for confrontation is now."

Elsewhere, Julian Bond, 29 and the first Negro elected to the Georgia Legislature, said in a Kansas City interview that college students could help change the face of the nation by working "where it really counts — among the poor, the whites and blacks, the Mexican-Americans and the Indians."

Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., canceled classes for the day Wednesday because of a student boycott at the Catholic school of 850 students. The students were seeking changes in social regulations.

Most of the 1,683 full-time students have honored a class boycott at the Southern University in New Orleans. The Afro-American Society at the predominantly Negro school sees, among other things, a department of black studies.

Plane

Radio Hanoi called it a "glorious achievement" and said it showed that "the U.S. aggressors learned nothing from the loss of the Pueblo."

North Korea claims that the U.S. plane—used for what U.S. officials called routine electronic surveillance—intruded its air space during daylight hours.

Henkin flatly denied this, saying the plane was under orders to stay at least 50 miles from North Korean territory, and did so.

"From a variety of sources, some of them sensitive, we are able to confirm that at all times during its mission the aircraft was far outside any claimed territorial airspace of North Korea," Henkin said.

The North Koreans claim a territorial limit of 12 miles out to sea. Soviet destroyers, guided by U.S. aircraft in a joint search effort, picked up debris from the plane about 120 miles southeast of the North Korean port city of Chongjin.

The Pentagon's publicly assumed position that the EC121 was on a legal mission in international airspace left the U.S. government free to brand the attack on it a warlike act.

But there was no indication of whether the Nixon administration would respond with a sharp protest or was considering some form of military retaliation.

At the Pentagon, military men felt Nixon had few if any attractive options in the way of retaliation.

Any military response directed at North Korea would run the risk of rekindling the Korean war, the said.

"They couldn't strike back at us but they sure as hell could against South Korea," was one officer's reaction. Some military men also felt that North Korea was deliberately trying to provoke the United States.

One possible response, officers said, would be for the United States to single out and bomb one North Korean MIG fighter base—preferably the one where the attacking jets were located.

Any American planes sent on such a mission undoubtedly would encounter stiff resistance. North Korea has an elaborate air defense system with surface-to-air missiles as well as the latest Soviet-made MIG21 fighters. Its air force totals some 450 fighters and bombers.

While the Pentagon withheld details of the actual attack, reports from Capitol Hill and other areas suggested that the EC121 as well as other radar-equipped units watching it from a distance saw two North Korean MIGs approach it. From official statements, it appeared the EC121 was in contact with its base at the time although the Pentagon would release none of the messages.

The Japanese defense agency said an American military radar in South Korea spotted North Korean fighters intercepting the electronics plane about 150 miles southeast of Chongjin. The agency said immediately after the contact the U.S. plane was seen disappearing from the radar screen.

Back home, relatives of the 31 missing crewmen waited and hoped.

"We just hope and pray he is alive," said Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Overstreet of Brooklyn, Miss., parents of Lt. Cmdr. James H. Overstreet, the aircraft's commander.

Henry Gleason of Guthrie, Okla., father of Lt. Dennis Baird Gleason, cautioned against any hasty reaction.

"True, I lost my son . . . but there's 50,000 other people who lost their sons," he said, "and to start another conflict so that 30,000 other people lose their sons . . . no, that isn't what my son died for."

Mrs. Geraldine Smith, wife of Communications Technician Chief Richard E. Smith, said the government "must take a stronger stand than it took during the Pueblo incident."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply Wednesday — its third loss this week — in the wake of the shooting down of a U. S. Navy plane in the Far East.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which posted fractional losses Monday and Tuesday, fell 8.45 to 923.49, to take its sharp loss since April 7, when it fell 8.52 in apparent reaction to administration inflation fighting measures.

The Dow had gained a total of 6.16 points last week during a market rally which drew much of its strength from a renewed Vietnam peace hopes.

Brokers said the market's decline apparently was due in large part to investor concern over the possible consequence of the plane incident. North Korea claims to have shot down the plane, which had 31 aboard, and the Pentagon said the claim was supported by all available evidence.

Declines took an early narrow lead over advances and expanded their advantage as trading wore on. Of 1,559 issues traded, 910 declined and 408 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 126.

Volume totaled 9.68 million shares, compared with 9.61 million Tuesday. Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 71, compared with 50 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 2.2 at 332.4, with industrials off 4.7, rails off 1.0, and utilities up 2.2. Steels, motors and electronics were off. Utilities were mixed. Gold issues generally were higher, with Dome Mines up 2 1/2. Conglomerate issues generally were lower.

Fourteen of the 20 most-active stocks on the New York exchange were lower. 5 higher, and 1 unchanged.

Occidental Petroleum, most-active on 192,000 shares, lost 1 1/2. Gulf Oil was off 1 1/2, and Texaco off 1 1/2.

Legionnaires Dispatched To African Nation

PARIS (AP) — France dispatched a force of Foreign Legionnaires today to the Central African republic where an attempted coup d'etat was reported foiled last week.

Airport sources in Nice said the detachment left the city this morning for Bangui after arriving in Nice Tuesday night from Calvi, Corsica, the foreign Legion headquarters.

The Central African Republic, a former French colony, was shaken over the weekend with the execution of Lt. Col. Alexandre Banza, the minister of health, charged with trying to overthrow the government of Gen. Jean Bedel Bokassa, a former French army soldier.

SEATTLE (AP) — Mervin Bailey of Seattle says he had just about enough money left in his bank account after completing his income tax return to pay for his own protest system against taxes.

Bailey hired a sky-writing service Tuesday to fly his message over the state capitol building in Olympia.

"Stop spending—cut taxes," his message read.

Bailey, vice-president of Craftsman Press Inc. said his message ordinarily would have cost twice as much as the $250 he paid.

But Arthur Bell, owner of the flying service, decided to "get in the act himself," Bailey said, and cut the fee in half.

MOUSE ESCAPES

SHELBYVILLE, Ind. (AP) — School bus driver Robert Weaver had unloaded his last pupils and was headed for home when a mouse ran between his feet.

He stamped his feet at the mouse, lost control of the bus, and struck a tree.

The bus was a total loss. The mouse escaped.

ATOM SMASHER SURVIVES NIXON'S BUDGET CUT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 200-billion electron volt atom smasher for Weston, Ill. survived President Nixon's budget cuts Tuesday with a request for $96 million construction money next year.

Nixon also asked Congress to increase the once controversial proton accelerator's total authorization to $250 million.

Atomic Energy Commission officials indicated at a news briefing that $21.1 million of a total $32.3 million congressional authorization has been appropriated for the project so far.

The administration asked a $217.7 million increase this session in the authorization — and appropriation of $96 million of the money for construction on the nearly mile-in-diameter accelerator next year.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In launching a franchise enterprise, a type of business in which individual proprietors are licensed to sell a specialized product or service, two very basic requirements must be met.

First, the franchiser must be able to sell territories in which the purchaser, the franchisee, will have exclusive rights. Second, the franchisee then must be able to sell the product.

At the moment, some celebrity-promoted franchises, particularly in quick service foods, are off to a fast start on requirement No. 1. The big test, however, may still lie ahead.

"Some companies are able to sell the franchises," says Thomas Robinson, executive director of the International Franchise Association "but they couldn't care less what comes later."

There are instances of disturbing failures.

Dr. Charles Vaughn, head of the Boston College Franchise Center, tells of one operation he was asked to reorganize. It involved two well-known members of political life and a celebrated entertainer.

"The franchise director apparently sold the personages to prospective franchisees. But when the franchisees tried to sell the products they could not," In fact, Vaughn says, they weren't even aware of the product to be sold.

Vaughn believes that some franchising is very risky, but that often the rewards are great. He compares some of them to oil investment syndicates in which money is collected even before beginning to drill the well.

In Vaughn's view there is little danger in some of the fast moving, celebrity-backed franchises if people understand the risks, and so long as franchisees are sold to people who can afford the risk.

Once the franchises are sold, and in today's atmosphere that isn't too difficult, the question of product acceptability becomes paramount. Some critics wonder if America can eat all the sandwiches and snacks and burgers.

Thomas Marshall, president of Broadway Joe's Inc., a franchiser of roast beef, shrimp and hamburger restaurants, is one who feels that not only is America's appetite voraciously large, but that America's time is increasingly scarce.

"People don't have time to sit down and mash potatoes," he says. "Faster living means quicker eating. I don't think the franchises have even scratched the surface of this demand."

The franchise food servers also have the notion that they are in the same role as the motel chains played a decade or two ago; that is, that inevitably they will replace old-fashioned mom-and-pop restaurants.

When the big motel chains, largely franchise operations, began dotting the landscape they brought with them an improvement in accommodations, service and food, and soon dominated the industry. The food franchisers hope to do the same.

A few questions remain to be answered, however, and among them are these:

Can a celebrity with little personal investment be as responsible as an ordinary businessman? Just how much will the celebrity's name add to the attraction. And if the public "buys" the celebrity, will it also buy the celebrity's roast beef and onion rings?

One of the main attractions of celebrities is to get the franchisees off to big starts by appearing at openings. Singer Tony Bennett, for instance, is expected to attend openings of Tony Bennett Spaghetti Houses.

This chain of low-priced, self-service restaurants will feature a dinner for a family of four for $5 or less. Included will be recorded Tony Bennett songs during the day and musicians at night.

(The chain is now emerging from Houston, Tex., where its first unit is expected to be opened Aug. 1, with Bennett attending.)

Ray Kroc, chairman of McDonald's hamburger chain, comments that "food people are going to succeed in food and show business people in show business."

Lots of others, however, claim that food franchisers using the publicity and acceptance of celebrities are going to revolutionize the restaurant business.

Extra Money Cuts Mortgage Interest

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT
(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The price of mortgage money these days is enough to make even strong men weep. Interest of 7 1/2 per cent—a rate that seemed almost stratospheric only a couple of years ago—is now considered practically a giveaway.

Would-be home buyers on the West Coast are facing rates hovering on the 9 per cent mark, and in some states unrealistic rate ceilings have managed to completely dry up the usual sources of mortgage money.

Much as we'd like to, we can't offer you any magic solution to this mess. There just aren't any bargains. But if you must borrow at these high rates, there is one way to take out some of the sting. Here's how it works:

Since a mortgage loan is a declining-balance debt, a big chunk of each monthly payment made in the early years goes for interest. On a relatively new mortgage, as much as 75 per cent of each payment may well be going for interest, leaving only 25 per cent to reduce the principal.

At this rate, paying off the principal is a project that blooms along with a speed similar to that involved in carving out the Grand Canyon.

But as painful as this arrangement may be, it can be made to work to your advantage if you can scrape up a little extra money on occasion. The trick is to double up one month on a principal payment, thus saving a full month's interest.

Let's say, for example, that your current monthly payment is $120, with $90 going for interest, and $30 to reduce the principal amount owed. If you can dig up an extra $30 this month, you can make an extra payment on the principal without having to pay the interest.

This puts you one month ahead in the game at a cost of only $30, instead of $120. You've leapfrogged one payment and saved a month's interest in the process.

One threat to this idea is what's called a "prepayment penalty," a charge levied against those who pay off a mortgage faster than the schedule calls for. Some mortgages include a clause invoking such penalties, others don't, but only the most unusual ones are ironclad.

Typical mortgages allow modest prepayments, invoking a penalty in the form of an extra charge only when the prepayment is massive.

If you're unsure about the provisions of your own mortgage, you can either get out your copy of the document itself and read it carefully or you can call the bank or savings and loan association where you got the loan and ask for an interpretation.

Either way, you'll probably be doing yourself a financial favor.

House Unit Opens Hearings On Cigarette Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Communications Commission sharply divided House Commerce Committee opened hearings on the explosive issue of cigarette advertising today with a wary eye on the courts and the calendar.

After reserving the first day of testimony to hear members of Congress, the committee has slated witnesses ranging from the American Cancer Society to the tobacco industry.

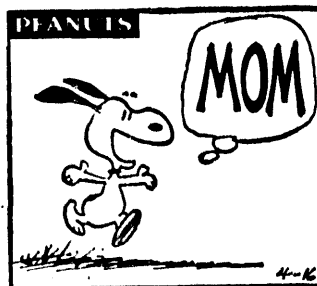

The central issue: Should the television stations to use anti-smoking messages.

The court's decision would be a guide to lawmakers on how it applies to the whole area of cigarette advertising the Constitution's broad guaranty against censorship.

In Congress there are basically three approaches being considered: Extend the ban on FCC action, allow it to stiffen existing regulations that require a hazardous warning label on cigarette packages or give the FCC a free hand by allowing the current curbs to expire.

It was the 1965 law requiring a health warning to cigarette-labeling that included the ban on the FCC from imposing changes any more on cigarette advertising for four years.

PEANUTS®

By Charles M. Schulz

favored by some Congressmen would read this way: "Warning: Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Health and May Cause Death from Cancer and Other Diseases."

Court May Rule On Antismoking Messages On TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — A verdict on the government's power to force radio and television stations to use antismoking messages could come from the Supreme Court, perhaps within the next few weeks.

While Congress contemplates new legislation, the court could guide the lawmakers by ruling on the claim that the Constitution's broad guaranty against government censorship can be used as a shield against regulation of radio-TV advertising.

The tobacco and broadcasting industries are banking heavily on 1st Amendment freedom of speech and press guarantees as they try to cut down the 1967 Federal Communications Commission rule requiring antismoking messages.

Their appeals, pending before the Court, argue that the broadcasting industry has been singled out unfairly—and unconstitutional; that the government could never get away with this kind of regulation if it tried to apply it to newspapers, for instance.

"Are broadcasters distinguishable for 1st Amendment purposes?" the National Association of Broadcasters asks.

The tobacco manufacturers, meanwhile, have reminded the justices that they held long ago the 1st Amendment "protects the citizen not only against governmental prohibitions on what he wishes to say, but also against governmental dictation of what he must say."

The object of this spirited attack is the FCC rule that stations carrying cigarette commercials must provide "a significant amount of time for the other viewpoint"—the viewpoint that cigarette smoking can be a hazard to health.

Successful in court so far, the FCC has moved on to propose a flat ban on all cigarette commercials on radio and television—with the possible exception of cigarettes "low in tar and nicotine and related filter aspects."

The fate of this stiffer fiat probably rests as much with the Supreme Court as with Congress.

If the justices turn their backs on the broadcasters and the tobacco people, refusing even to grant them a full-dress hearing, congressional proponents of antismoking measures would be emboldened to drive ahead.

However, if the justices set the appeal down for a hearing next term, the effect likely would be to restrain the more adventurous legislators. A very real prospect of court disapproval will have been raised.

The FCC, for its part, has brushed aside the 1st Amendment argument and pitched its case to protecting the public against "the powerful blandishments" of cigarette advertising.

The agency argues that one side to the debate over smoking, the cigarette manufacturers, have "economic interests and resources unmatched by any opponent."

Therefore, the agency says, the Constitution and the public interest are served "by an attempt to address the balance" with government-ordered antismoking messages.

A lot more is at stake than constitutional questions. Radio and television account for about 75 per cent of all the money spent on cigarette advertising—probably $250 million to $300 million a year.

Expect Hundreds At Free Rock Show In Brown April 19-20

MT. STERLING—The twelfth annual rock show will be held Saturday and Sunday in St. Mary's gymnasium. Doors will open at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, April 19th, and will close at 9:00 p.m. In order not to conflict with church services Sunday, the 20th, doors will not be opened until 12:00 noon, and will close at 6:00 p.m. The show is given by the Siloam Springs Earth Science Club.

From a small beginning twelve years ago the show has grown to be one of the largest in several states. Hundreds of visitors will attend.

Members of three other rock clubs will exhibit: Gem City Rock club of Quincy; Springfield, Ill., club; and Louisiana, Mo., club. Local members have worked over a year in preparation. It is the only chance the public has of viewing the collections of the members. Exhibits will include gems, minerals, fossils, Indian artifacts, rocks and shells.

Local exhibitors include Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Reich, who will exhibit minerals and artifacts; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Roberts; Mrs. D. F. Tice, shells; Lyle Hickman, Robert Dunn, Indian artifacts; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hoelscher and the 4-H prospectors.

Other members to show include the Glen Hannings of Huntsville, prize winning Indian artifacts, mostly found in local areas; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allen of Carthage; Jean Bradshaw and Arlene Reece, Delbert Danner of Beardstown; Keith and Mable Horney of Augusta; Dr. Wilma Steinberger of Augusta, Ill.

Special Exhibits
Many special exhibits have also been arranged. Bill and Vivian Willis of Springfield, Ill., will show vertebrate fossils from the Dakota badlands. Robert Cooper of Peoria, will have specimens of engraving on whale-bone ivory. Mr. and Mrs. Corliss Ingels will show Illinois marcasite. Melvin Huseman from Walnut, Ill., will show jade jewelry. Mildred Scheffel of Peoria will show animal fossils.

Mrs. Ehen Ashor will show a comprehensive display of fossils. Donald Good, who had a most extensive display at the National Show last year, will be here with a part of his display.

The following dealers have been invited: Raymond Quinn, owner of the Brown County Rock Shop; Bill and Lois Rock Shop of Rock Island; Byrnes of Panora, Iowa; the Erschens of St. Louis, Mo.; Lincoln Land Rock Shop of Springfield, Ill.

Musselmans of Salt Lake City, Utah; Rays Rock Shop of Little America; and Roten's Rock Hound Supplies at Bartonville, Ill.

Another special feature will be the hourly lectures and black light display by John Q. Morris. A new daylight projection screen, operated by Bill Roberts, will continuously show slides on the stage.

Members will be at each exhibit to welcome the guests and to explain the exhibits. The public is invited to bring rocks to have them classified.

Lapidary
A new feature this year will be a lapidary demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lindsay of Louisiana, Mo., who will set up a complete workshop for the process of cutting the rough stone to the finished gem.

Drawing for door prizes and guessing contests will add to the interest. The show will be carried out regardless of the weather, as visitors have already made reservations at local motels.

The ladies of St. Mary's will serve lunch both days as a convenience to guests. There is no admission charge. It is all free in the interest of earth-science.

Galleries To Appraise Mac's Art Collection

Parke-Bernet Galleries, Inc., Baptiste Corot, George Inness and William Merritt Chase, and prints by Albrecht Durer, Charles Daubigny, James McNeill Whistler and John Marin. The most unique part of MacMurray's holdings is what has been given to the college over the past 100 years, includes paintings by Jean Cropsey, 19th century Hudson River School painter, now undergoing a widespread revival. In addition to 19 paintings and watercolors by the artist, the college owns a Cropsey sketch book and numerous letters written by Cropsey to a central Illinois patron, J. W. Kitchell.

Parke-Bernet, long established New York firm, attracted national attention when it gained the record price for any work of art ever sold, $2,300,000 for Rembrandt's Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer. Parke-Bernet's affiliation with Sotheby's in London makes possible a worldwide market for their sales of works of art, antique furniture, silver, porcelain, jewelry and manuscripts and has produced a series of record prices in recent years.

Thomas E. Norton, Assistant Vice President of Parke-Bernet and specialist on American paintings, will appraise MacMurray's collection. MacMurray's Fine Arts Committee, which has been engaged in researching and cataloging works owned by the college, is composed of Prof. Howard F. Sidman, Prof. E. H. Foersterling, Mrs. George B. Clark, Mrs. Joseph C. Cleeland, Dr. Walter B. Hendrickson, Dr. and Mrs. J. Weldon Smith, Mr. Wilbur F. Starkey and Mrs. John J. Wittich.

After cataloging and appraising, MacMurray's art possessions will be reinstated to their original condition. It is planned that the Cropsey collection will become available for display in other art centers as a traveling exhibit.

ACCEPTS POSITION ON IOWA FACULTY

CHANDLERVILLE — Mrs. Daniel Lynch has accepted a position as English instructor at Boone Junior College in Boone, Ia., for the 1969-70 term.

Mrs. Lynch, the former Mariellen Armstrong, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jephtha Armstrong of Chandlerville. She is a graduate of Chandlerville High School and Monmouth College.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch plan to attend summer session at Iowa State University in Ames, where both are working toward doctoral degrees.

WITH U.S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam — U.S. Air Force Master Sergeant William L. Lain (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Lain of Barry, Ill., receives the Air Medal at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam, for air action in Southeast Asia.

Sergeant Lain was cited for his outstanding airmanship and courage as a medical superintendent on successful and important missions under hazardous conditions. He is assigned at Tan Son Nhut with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. The sergeant is a 1949 graduate of Barry High School. His wife, Roma, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blackwell of 419 Wahl St., Milan, Tenn. Lieutenant Colonel Robert A. French, commander of the 903rd Aeromedical Evacuation Squadron, makes the presentation. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Makes Best Ball Poster

First place winner in the annual Beaux Arts Ball poster contest is Miss Judy Cors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cors, 807 South Main street. She is a sophomore at Routt High School and is pictured above with her winning poster depicting the Americana theme.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Art Association of Jacksonville and open to all junior and senior high school students. Judy has been awarded a tuition scholarship for art classes at the Strawn Art Gallery for the 1969 fall semester. The classes are under the supervision of the director of the Gallery and are one of the benefits made possible from proceeds of the Beaux Arts Ball. The first place poster is currently displayed in the window of Waddell's department store.

Honorable mention was given to David Schmidt. His poster is displayed at Newell's. David is a senior at Routt High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt, R.R.3, Carrollton, Illinois.

TO WORKSHOP

David Quigg

The Jacksonville Woman's club, through its conservation chairman, Mrs. Alfred Lamkular, announces the choice of David Quigg as the club's sponsor to attend Conservation Workshops at the University of Illinois.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Quigg, Jacksonville route two. He will attend the July 13-18 session at the University.

U.S., Canada Expanding Recreational Facilities

Keeping pace with the vast numbers of people who are taking part in outdoor recreational activities has become a monumental task. As the ranks of outdoor enthusiasts continue to swell so too does their need for larger, better equipped and more easily accessible recreation lands.

Former President Johnson told the Congress in March of last year, "In our time, the task has become more difficult—ever more urgent. Our numbers grow, our cities become more crowded, the pace of our lives quickens—but man's need to raise man's spirits and expand his vision still endures."

In an effort to insure that there will always be places to "raise man's spirits and expand his vision," the U.S. Government has embarked on an acquisition program that is designed to set aside huge areas of undeveloped lands and waters for recreational use.

Half Million Added
During the past three years alone, almost one-half million acres of lands and waters have been set aside for recreational purposes, at a cost of $133,763,000, but that figure will undoubtedly seem modest as the population grows and the price of land advances.

Since 1964, Congress has authorized nine new National Recreation Areas: Lake Mead, Arizona - Nevada; Delaware

Water Gap, Pennsylvania-New Jersey; Spruce Knob-Seneca Rock, West Virginia; Whiskeytown-Shasta-Trinity, California; Mt. Rogers, Virginia; Bighorn Canyon, Wyoming - Montana; Flaming Gorge, Utah-Wyoming; and Ross Lake and Lake Chelan in Washington.

During the same period, three National Seashores and two National Lakeshores were authorized: Fire Island National Seashore in New York, Assateague Island National Seashore in Maryland and Virginia, Cape Lookout National Seashore in North Carolina, Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore in Michigan and Indiana, Dunes National Lakeshore in Indiana.

Four New Parks
Prior to 1964 Cape Hatteras, North Carolina; Cape Cod, Massachusetts; Point Reyes in California; and Padre Island, Texas had been approved as national recreation areas by the Congress.

In addition, the government has set aside or established Biscayne National Monument in Florida, a National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, a National Trails System, six Wildlife Refuges, and five Wilderness areas, and from 1964, four new National Parks. Two of the new parks, Redwood in California and North Cascades in Washington, were dedicated last year. Approximately 3,600,000 acres of land have been acquired for the major recreation areas approved since 1964. Most of this acreage already was owned by the Federal Government and was transferred to become part of the new recreation areas. Around 600,000 acres still need to be acquired to complete the new areas.

How Financed
Money to buy that land will come from the Land and Water Conservation Fund, which is supported by entrance and user fees at Federal recreation areas, proceeds from the sale of Federal surplus real property, and the Federal motorboat fuels tax.

Canada, an acknowledged leader in the development of lands and waters for outdoor recreational activities, is not resting on its laurels. It is accelerating the pace at which its natural resources are being turned into national and provincial parks set aside for all who enjoy the splendor of nature.

Canadians who headed for EXPO '67 or Man and His Universe in 1968 found that throughout the country new campsites, parks and trails had been opened.

This year anyone heading for the Canadian Outdoors will find the scenic landscape liberally splashed with accommodations for every form of activity in the great outdoors.

A province by province run-down gives some hint of the facilities. Starting with the picturesque East Coast and traveling westward, here are some of the highlights:

NEWFOUNDLAND's Terra Nova National Park, the extensive camp ground at the head of the fjord-like Newman Sound, now has 325 sites practically all of which boast such facilities as piped water, children's playgrounds, stoves and grills.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, with its national park offering four well-equipped camping areas on the north shore overlooking beaches backed by sandstone cliffs, now has six additional provincial parks added to its previous 20.

NOVA SCOTIA's big new park for this year is the new national park Kejimikujik west of Maitland Bridge on Highway 8, complementing the already existing Cape Breton Highlands National Park.

NEW BRUNSWICK's Fundy National Park on the famous Bay of Fundy is adding to its 1,070 sites available in its six separate camping areas, this summer, equipping them with modern comfort and convenience facilities.

QUEBEC, with its famous Laurentian resort area just north of Quebec City, has engaged in a program of improvement and expansion of its scores of campsites that grew up around Montreal to accommodate Expo '67 visitors.

ONTARIO, Canada's second largest province, has added six new provincial parks, notably Cyprus Lake and Dunn, 20 miles west of Dunnville on Lake Erie, to its 94, with camping accommodations in 83 of them.

MANITOBA's latest new facility to open is Birds Hill, only 14 miles north of Winnipeg with ample modern recreational facilities. The province boasts of more than 250 picnic sites, camping grounds and trailer parks.

SASKATCHEWAN's South Saskatchewan River Dam project has created 500 miles of recreational shoreline where many new campsites are being planned as additions to the approximately 250 other government operated campsites in the province.

ALBERTA, boasting some of the world's most spectacular and best serviced sites in its three Rocky mountain National Parks—Waterfowl Lakes, Banff and Jasper—has extensive, well-equipped tent and trailer accommodations.

BRITISH COLUMBIA, with provincial parks covering 6.14 millions of acres, including many well suited for wilderness camping, has added beautiful new beach facilities on the east coast of Vancouver Island and two new camping areas near Fort St. John in the far north.

If you'd like to know more about Canada's camping facilities and attractions, write the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Ottawa, Canada. Ask for Campers' Tour Kit, number 9.

What You Should Know About Towing Trailers

After a little practice, there's nothing especially difficult about towing or parking a camping trailer. Get the feel of your trailer behind your car a little bit before you start and keep these helpful pointers in mind:

STARTING FROM A DEAD STOP with a trailer calls for slower and more even acceleration than ever. Also give yourself more clearance in the traffic flow to provide for your increased length and decreased initial speed.

STOPPING SAFELY will depend on your tire condition, brakes, the weather, your speed and the condition of the road. Make a practice "quick stop" early in your trip to learn the effects of the trailer on your stopping ability.

WHEN MAKING TURNS, remember that the rear wheels will not quite exactly follow the path of the front wheels of your car. Make allowance for this. Leave additional room and clearance by driving a little beyond the turning point before making your turn.

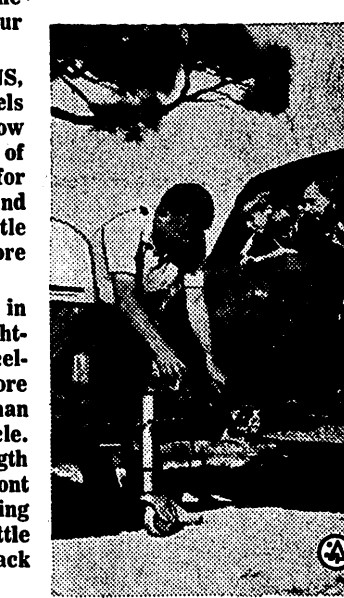

WHEN PASSING, keep in mind that the trailer will slightly decrease your passing acceleration and you'll need more "clear" highway ahead than usual to pass another vehicle. With your increased length you'll need more room in front of the vehicle you're passing and you'll have to wait a little longer before you can pull back into your normal lane.

BACKING UP can really be pretty simple. When backing up, the back of your trailer always go in the opposite direction of the back of your car. One simple method often used is to place your right hand on the bottom of the steering wheel. To move the back of your trailer left, move your hand left. To move it right, move your hand right.

Campers towing a trailer for the first time should remember that legal maximum speeds are lower in most states with a trailer than without. The trailer must be wired, complete to directional signals.

Most camper trailers do not have their own brake system, unless their gross weight is more than 1500 pounds. Frame hitches are better than bumper hitches, and safety chains are a must. Dealers usually can install trailer hitches.

Trailer hitches may now be ordered factory installed for perfect performance, as in the instance of the Nimrod and the Travelall pictured above, reports International.

Tune Up For More Fun Before Starting Trip

Look at your vacation snapshots from last year. How many show your family stopping at a filling station to get gas?

If the answer is none, then it would appear that buying a gasoline is not one of your most memorable vacation memories. Necessary, yes; fun, no.

Champion Spark Plug Company has come up with a way to put more fun and less funds in your summer outing. An engine that is expertly tuned before the trip can mean gasoline savings that assure you fewer stops for fuel and more money saved to spend in your vacation enjoyment.

As an extra bonus, a tune-up will give your car more power to pass and surer starting on cool or damp mornings. To measure the value of a well-tuned engine, Champion conducted a three-nation, six month study of car performance last year. Using a portable dynamometer on cars in the U.S., Mexico and Canada, the tests revealed the following:

Average fuel savings between cars in need of tune-up and a tuned car were 8.2 percent for the tuned car. With a change in spark plugs alone average savings were 6.2 percent. Translated into motorist benefits, that's considerably better than a free gallon of gas per tankful. Or being able to drive an extra distance between fuel stops.

Improvement in passing power was also dramatic. A tuned car passes in 9.8 percent less distance than a car in need of tune, the tests showed. With new plugs alone, passing efficiency increased by 6.6 percent.

Engine power output increased 10.4 percent after the engine was tuned and 6.6 percent when new spark plugs were installed without other tune-up services.

Tune-up is just one service that will make your vacation trip trouble-free and enjoyable.

Yes, mom, just a visit to your favorite automobile maintenance shop can go a long way toward making your family's trip into the Great Outdoors trouble free. Maybe all you need to put the family car in proper condition are new points, new plugs, basic to a tune-up. Your expert mechanic will make it clear to you.

New Vehicles Lead Way To Fun

"What's a recreational vehicle?" Maybe the best answer to that is another question—"What's your idea of recreation?"

If it happens to be camping, hunting, fishing, boating, or any of the other exciting activities to be found in the "Great Outdoors," perhaps a recreational vehicle is exactly what you need to increase your enjoyment.

Lugging up a mountain trail, crashing through underbrush, towing a large travel trailer, or packing a camper unit along on your vehicle's back often means a special type of transportation is necessary. These units are not exactly passenger cars but neither can they be called trucks. Thus, "recreational vehicle" is the term that has come into use since it describes the function.

Three Basic Types
There are three basic types of recreational vehicles available, each aimed at satisfying the particular needs of different types of outdoor enthusiasts. One or two of these types are produced by a number of manufacturers but International trucks is a leader in all three categories: campers, super station wagons, and compact-utility vehicles.

Campers have a wide appeal to both families and retired couples since they enable the user to bring many of the comforts of home including kitchen, bathroom and sleeping facilities right along into the Great Outdoors. Carried mostly by pickup trucks, campers come in a variety of sizes ranging from eight to 14 feet. Most of the camping vehicles have been specially-equipped with heavy-duty engines, transmissions, axles, and electrical components. The camper coach simply slides onto the pickup bed where it is bolted securely. When not in use, the camper unit can be removed and the pickup freed for day-to-day work as a utility vehicle.

Permanently Fitted
A second type of camper, however, is permanently fitted to the vehicle's chassis. While sacrificing some versatility, these chassis-mounted campers offer more room than the insert types. Regardless of the type specified, campers have become one of the most popular recreational vehicles.

Many outdoor recreation fans prefer to tow a trailer and select a second type of vehicle the "super station wagon."

These units are roomy, capable of carrying nine adults, (all facing forward), to a football game in comfort, or with the second seat folded flat and the third seat removed, carry enough supplies to last a month in the wilds while pulling a 6,000-lb. travel trailer behind.

On a Truck Chassis
The International Travelall station wagon is built on a truck-type chassis and is rugged enough to pull trailers measuring more than 20 feet in length and up to 7,000 lbs. The current models all are available with a hitch mounting assembly installed at the factory as well as a special air load-leveling system.

In spite of its tough reputation as a towing vehicle, the Travel-

all features attractive modern lines along with woodgrain applique side panels. A wide choice of exterior and interior colors, bucket seats, automatic transmissions and power brakes and steering makes the Travelall all equally at home at the country club as well as the countryside.

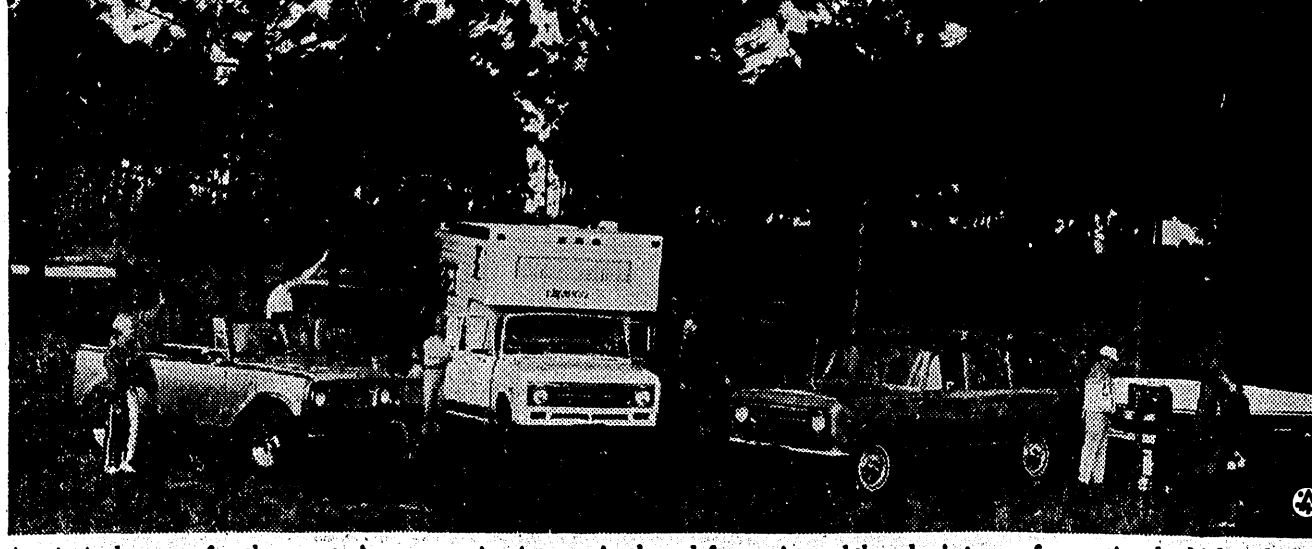

The key to the third type of recreational vehicle is versatility as personified by the "go anywhere" International Scout. Normally equipped with all-wheel drive, Scouts and the other utility compacts are double-duty vehicles. They make ideal second cars that handle well on the highway or in traffic yet can take their passengers far beyond the limits of concrete pavement when that special weekend vacation calls for travel far off-road over rugged terrain.

Available with such handy options as automatic transmission, 193-hp V8 engine, and an interchangeable top, the Scout is truly the answer for those sports-loving families who want comfort and convenience during the week but rugged "action wheels" on the weekend.

What is the right recreational vehicle for you? That depends on the size of your family, where you want to go, what you want to do and the size of your budget.

Whatever the type of outdoor recreation you and your family enjoy, there is a special vehicle ready to take you to it.

A principal reason for the country's ever-growing interest in the "Great Outdoors" is the improvement in transportation available to reach those remote hunting, fishing and camping sites. An entirely new generation of "recreational vehicles" has been created, especially designed to serve the sportsman and his family. From left are pictured three basic types of recreational vehicles: the compact-utility Scout with all-wheel drive, the International pickup with an insert-type camper body, and the Travelall "super station wagon," which despite its tough reputation as a towing vehicle features modern lines and a wide choice of colors.

YOUR BIRTHDAY HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, APRIL 17—Born today, you are one who does his best work in the wake of encouragement, even flattery. On the other hand, you are somewhat inclined to overreact to adverse criticism, allowing even suggestions as to how you might improve to upset you to the point of not being able to produce even moderately well. You will have to learn to accept criticism—or, at any rate, to ignore it—if you are to achieve real success in the real world. Possessed of a first-rate mind, you take your greatest pleasure from the exercise of intellectual rather than physical prowess. Rarely do you make foolish mistakes—and those mistakes which are ultimately proven to be foolish never stem from a lack of reasonable effort on your part. When you go wrong, it is usually because you have not been privy to some piece of vital information, not because you have overlooked it. A forceful personality determines your personal relationships both as to kind and as to duration. Those who must be in the driver's seat themselves are not likely to enter into your circle of intimates; just as those who develop leadership qualities under your guidance are likely to leave it. The natured followers, however, will remain. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide. Friday, April 18 ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Present social obligations may stand in the way of your being able to achieve a career goal at this time. Don't fret over it. TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Consult children and you may well discover what lies behind present difficulties on the home front. Find a simple solution. GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—The early riser has a distinct advantage over the late-beds today. Accomplish more than you set out to do. CANCER (June 22-July 23)—An opportunity to mix business with pleasure this afternoon should not be overlooked. The effort pays off in an advantage. LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Make every effort to come up with a different product at this time. Higher-ups have an eye on your progress. VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Come to some decision regarding your immediate future or you may find that the opportunity for choice has been removed. LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Employ the tact and diplomacy for which you are becoming known and you should be able to gain supporters for a new endeavor. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Take the time to have second thoughts before you act—not afterward. You can solve a problem before it arises. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Family members should rally to your support if you show enthusiasm over present plans. Otherwise, you may have difficulty. CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Keep a secret of a personal nature to yourself for the time being. Take time to reconsider proposed action. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Let others know you are available for additional responsibility. This is your time to shine. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Your natural instinct for good sportsmanship should stand you in excellent stead today. Others move ahead for the time being.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, April 17, the 107th day of 1969. There are 253 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1521, the Diet at Worms excommunicated Martin Luther from the Roman Catholic Church after he refused to admit to charges of heresy. On this date: In 1780, Benjamin Franklin died at his Philadelphia home. In 1861, Virginia seceded from the Union. In 1940, during World War I, German planes attacked shipping in the Scapa Flow. In 1941, Yugoslavia's army surrendered to the Germans, but guerrilla warfare continued. In 1958, the world's fair opened in Brussels, Belgium. In 1961, anti-Castro Cuban exiles launched their unsuccessful invasion at the Bay of Pigs in Cuba. Ten years ago—South Africa was reported preparing to seal off borders with neighboring British protectorates to cut off escape of political refugees. Five years ago—French President Charles de Gaulle underwent surgery and was reported in satisfactory condition. One year ago—President Lyndon B. Johnson met at Honolulu with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea.

Set Book Fair April 19th At New Berlin High

NEW BERLIN—A Book Fair will be held between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 19, in the community room of the New Berlin High School. The New Berlin Woman's club members have been collecting books since October and now have over 500 books to offer the public. Books will be priced from 5 cents to 50 cents with paperbacks selling for 25 cents each. Mrs. William L. Cumby, chairman of the Education Department of the club and in charge of the Book Fair, states there should be something to suit the taste of men, women and children. There are textbooks, children's books, paperbacks of every variety, Reader's Digest Condensed Books and a great variety of novels. A few very old books are also being made available for those who collect vintage books. The Student Council members of the New Berlin High School will be assisting at the Book Fair. The Art Class of the high school and St. Mary's Civics club have made and distributed posters for the event. Woman's club members assisting Mrs. Cumby are Mrs. Walter Tamblin, Mrs. Richard Eckley, Mrs. Fred Hermes, Mrs. James Marr, Jr., Mrs. Donald E. Smith, Mrs. Robert Hogan, Mrs. Arnan Williams, Mrs. James B. Hitt, Mrs. Ralph Frank, Mrs. Hugh Norfleet and Mrs. Walter K. Bridges, Jr., president.

The Obedient Ingredient

Milnot does what you want it to do. In everything, plain or fancy. It creams. It whips. It performs in dips. It goes milk and cream one better. And then some. Without the "canned milk" taste of evaporated milk. Or all the calories. There's more to Milnot than milk. (And less: it's made with cholesterol-free vegetable oil.)

Pizza-Burgers

1/2 cup MILNOT	4 tablespoons catsup
1 cup Italian-style bread crumbs	1 pound lean ground beef
1 egg	6-8 slices Mozzarella or Pizza cheese
2 teaspoons instant minced onions	6-8 sliced buns, or bread, for sandwiches

Blend together Milnot, crumbs, egg, onion, and catsup; very lightly blend in ground beef. Allow to stand about 5 minutes. Shape into 6-8 patties of desired size and thickness. Broil about 5 minutes, or until well-browned; turn and brown on second side. Top each patty with additional catsup, place a slice of cheese on top half of each bun and return to broiler. When cheese is bubbly remove from broiler and serve as a sandwich. 6-8 servings.

Rockets Defeat Beardstown 5-4

BEARDSTOWN — Routt ex-Routt found the range in the fourth frame. Don Fuchs started it with a single and moved to third on a throwing error. Costa then slammed a double for the first Rocket run, knotting the score at 1-1.

One out later Boyd Farmer drove in a run with a single. Krumlauf walked before Jerry Johnson slugged a two-run triple that gave the eventual winners a 4-1 edge. An error on the Profit's grounder let in what proved to be the winning run.

Beardstown scored a run on an error in the second and added three in the sixth on Mike Lewis' triple, Bill Peterson's single, an error and three free passes.

Krumlauf worked out of the jam in the sixth then got the last two batters in the seventh with the bases loaded with only one away.

Beardstown scored a run on an error in the second and added three in the sixth on Mike Lewis' triple, Bill Peterson's single, an error and three free passes.

Greenville Blasts IC In 18-0 Romp

GREENVILLE — Host Greenville had a field day, pounding out 18 hits, including three home runs and three doubles, in streaking to a lopsided 18-0 blanking of Illinois College in a Prairie College Conference tilt Wednesday afternoon.

The winners, now 10-1 overall and 1-0 in the PCC, were led at the plate by Rick Adkinson who stroked two home runs and a double and drove in five runs while scoring three times in three official appearances.

IC, now 1-1 overall and in the conference, managed singles by Tom Murgatroyd, Scott Carruthers and Glen Phillips.

Robby, Tony C. Look Recovered

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Robinson and Tony Conigliaro, two of baseball's top sluggers, are showing signs of recovery from the eye problems which have plagued them for the past two seasons, but neither sees any real similarity in the cases.

"I have sort of an idea what Conigliaro went through, but I can't really know the extent of it," Robinson said before their teams met at Fenway Park Wednesday in the finale of a three-game series.

"His was much more serious," said the Baltimore right fielder who is off to a brilliant start this year after suffering through the worst season of his career in 1968.

Robinson, who suffered a head injury in a baserunning collision in mid-1967, came back late that season but still couldn't see properly and had double vision at times.

"Last year that was gone, but I still had trouble seeing things clearly," said the only man ever to win Most Valuable Player honors in both leagues.

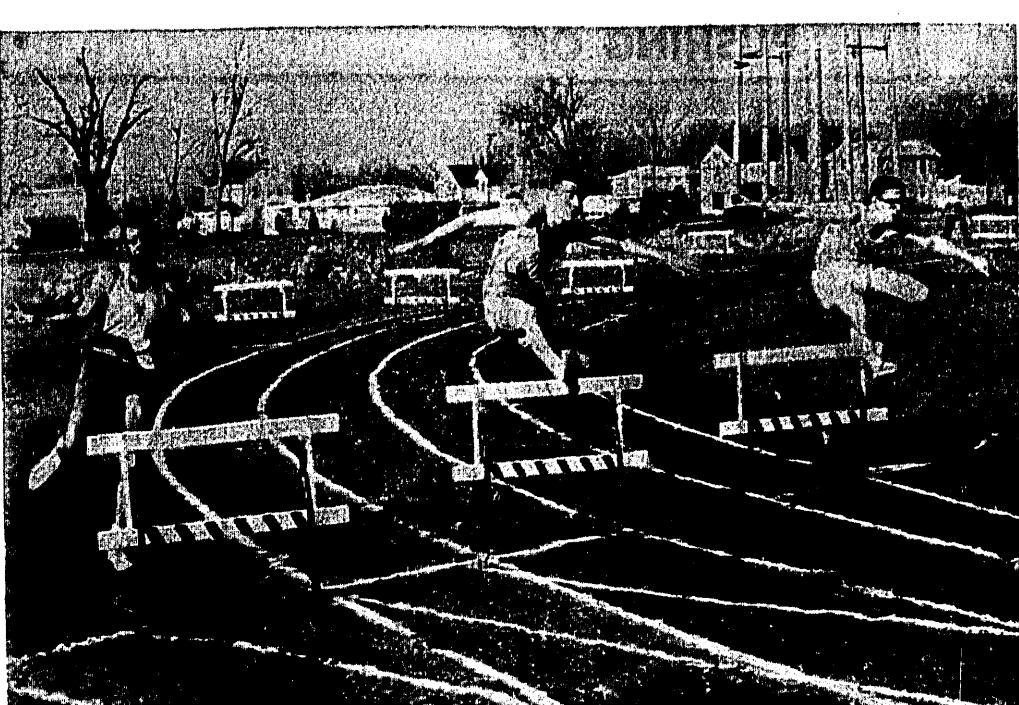

This season he says he's 100 per cent again, and the early evidence backs him up, as he has already smashed four homers, driven in 10 runs and hit .412 in his team's first eight games.

Conigliaro, whose career was feared ended when he had to sit out almost a season and a half with impaired vision after an Aug. 18, 1967 beating, also says his eyesight is now 100 per cent again.

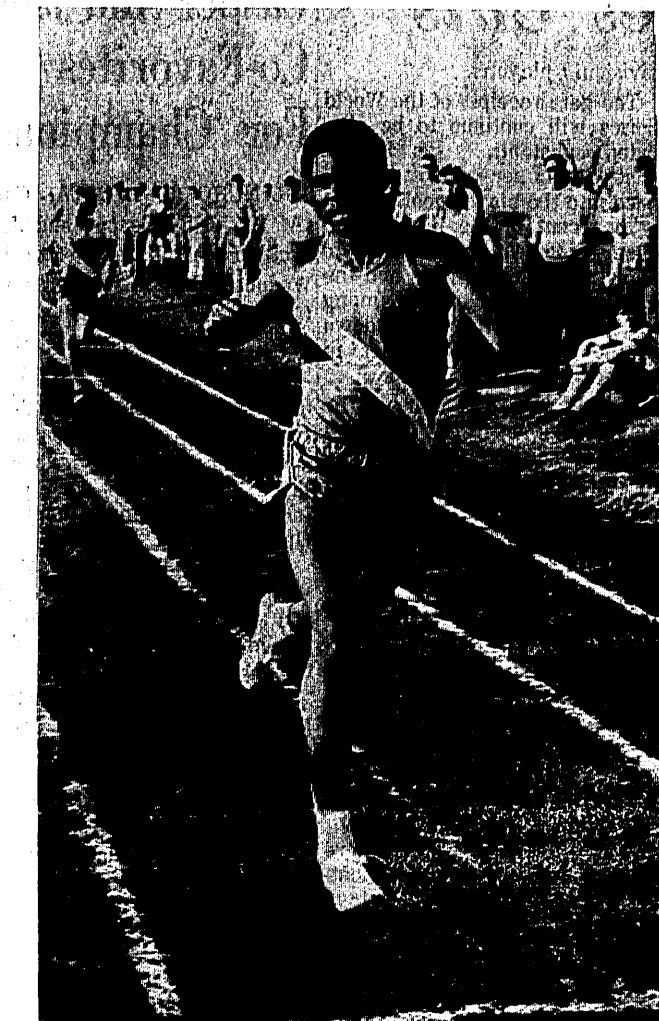

Conigliaro hasn't demonstrated his recovery quite so convincingly as Robinson as yet, but the young slugger did lead the Red Sox in home runs during the exhibition season and also hit one on opening day. He has played regularly and hasn't had any apparent problems seeing the ball either at bat or in the field.

CLOSE: These three low hurdlers are virtually neck and neck approximately half way through their 180 yard event. L-r are Robert Terry and Lee Suter of ISD and Roger Ore of Triopia. Terry finished second and Suter and Ore finished in a tie for third in the finals.

EASY WINNER: ISD sophomore Willy Forrest is well in front as he breezes to a first in the 100 yard dash during a four-team meet on the local track Wednesday afternoon. Forrest also won the 220 and long jump as his team captured club honors.

Forrest, Sipek Top ISD In Track Win

Paced by triple winner Willy Forrest and double winner Ron Sipek, ISD rolled to a decisive margin over three other teams in a four-club meet Wednesday afternoon on the ISD cinders.

ISD rolled up 90½ points, well ahead of second-place Triopia with 56½. Chandlerlerville piled up 28 points and Bluffs 18.

Forrest, a speedy sophomore, won the 100, 220 and broad jump, and ran a leg on the winning varsity relay to personally account for over 16 points.

Sipek captured the half mile and mile and came in second in the high jump for 14 points.

Triopia had two standouts in Bernie Meyer and Chris Nergenh. Meyer won the high jump and pole vault and added a third in the high hurdles and a fourth in the 440. Nergenh won both hurdles events.

May, Bradford Belt Home Runs In 5-2 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Carlos May slammed two homers and Buddy Bradford belted one in the Chicago White Sox home-opener triumph over the Kansas City Royals, 5-2 Wednesday.

The White Sox unveiled the first outdoor artificial infield turf in the majors, but it played a minor factor on offense, while perhaps contributing to five double plays.

Kansas City's Joe Foy, former Red Sox third baseman, belted a two-run homer off winner Joe Horlen in the first inning for a 2-0 Kansas City lead.

Then 20-year-old May slammed Dave Morehead's first pitch for a homer into the left field stands. May chased Morehead in the fifth with a homer over the 400-foot mark in center field after Sandy Alomar walked for a 3-2 White Sox lead in the fifth.

Bradford also slammed a two-run homer after Duane Josephson singled with two out in the sixth. Bradford's blow came off Dave Wicksham.

McLain, Tigers Streak To 8-2 Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Northrup drove in four runs with a double and a home run and Denny McLain scattered nine hits as Detroit whipped Cleveland 8-2 Wednesday night.

Northrup's fourth-inning double following singles by Willie Horton and Norm Cash gave the Tigers their first two runs. Then McLain singled Northrup across for a 3-0 Detroit lead.

Cash's first home run of the season in the fifth inning made it 4-0.

The Indians cut the Tigers' lead in half with single runs in the fifth and sixth but Northrup's eighth inning two-out homer sealed it for Detroit. Three Tiger hits added two more runs in the ninth.

Disclose Pipers Sold To Group In Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Minnesota Pipers of the American Basketball Association have been conditionally sold for $1.2 million to a businessmen's group which plans to move them to Jersey City, a prospective owner disclosed Wednesday.

Mark Binstein, former West Point star and assistant basketball coach at St. Peter's College here in 1967, said the deal for the defending ABA champions, closed last Nov. 26, was subject to league approval.

Binstein said he was one of four principal shareholders in the purchasing group. He identified the others as Marvin Rabinowitz of Teaneck, Rabinowitz's brother, Jerome, of New York City, and Gabe Rubin of Pittsburgh.

Jenkins Hurls Cubs Past Cardinals 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, off to their best start in 34 seasons, zipped past the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 Wednesday night behind the five-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins for their eighth victory in nine games.

The Cubs got their run off southpaw Steve Carlton in the third inning when Billy Williams led off with a single and moved around on a walk, a sacrifice by Ernie Banks and an infield hit by Randy Hundley. Williams slid in under catcher Tim McCarver's swide after a wide throw by third baseman Mike Shannon.

Glenn Beckert, the Cubs' second baseman, was carried from the field in the seventh after a collision with Shannon, who was out sliding into second. Beckert was taken to Jewish Hospital for X rays and, after playing in the field in the top of the eighth, Shannon, who suffered blurred vision, also was forced to leave the game.

HOUSTON (AP) — Hank Aaron slugged a two-run homer in the first inning—the 512th of his career—Wednesday night as the Atlanta Braves beat the Houston Astros 6-4.

Aaron's blast off lefty Denny Lemaster broke a tie with Mel Ott and pulled him into a sixth place tie with Eddie Mathews, his former teammate, on the all-time homer list.

The big blow came with Sonny Jackson, who had tripled across the first Atlanta run, on base. Joe Morgan homered for the Astros in the first inning and Norm Miller knocked in three runs with a double and two singles.

Pagan Carries Pirates To 11-3 Romp Over Mets

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jose Pagan, a utility infielder, had four hits and drove in three runs to spark Pittsburgh to a 11-3 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night.

Pagan, filling in for rookie Rich Hebner at third, tripled in two runs in the first inning after Matt Alou walked and Roberto Clemente singled. Pagan's blast came with two out and the Pirates went on to tag starter Jerry Koosman for two more runs.

Koosman was replaced by Nolan Ryan in the third after Pagan doubled and scored on Jerry May's sacrifice fly.

The Pirates nailed Ryan for four more runs in the fifth, and Pagan singled in another in a two-run ninth.

ON TUESDAY, April 22, the Jacksonville YMCA will serve as host for the first gymnastics clinic for area physical education teachers and college students.

The purpose of the program is to guide and instruct physical education teachers and college students in the organization and teaching techniques for the sport of gymnastics.

Two separate sessions will be conducted in the clinic. The first part will be scheduled from 2:00 to 4:00, and will highlight techniques for teaching various skills. The second part from 6:30 to 8:30 will be a demonstration of an actual class being taught.

Director of the clinic will be Richard Zuber of the Nessen Gymnastics Corporation. Donald F. Hardesty, Associate Executive, who is hosting the clinic, stated that Mr. Zuber has had an excellent background in physical education and gymnastics. He received his Bachelor's degree from George Williams College and his Masters degree from the University of Illinois. Following this he became a YMCA physical director for five years, and a Turner gymnastics coach for 2½ years.

Zuber then went to the University of Illinois as Assistant Gymnastics coach for two and a half years. His next position was that of Head Gymnastics Coach at Southern Connecticut State College before accepting the position as Education Director for Nissen Co.

which is the worlds largest manufacturer of gymnasium apparatus. He has taught National Trampoline and Tumbling Champions and has been instrumental in training both men and women Olympic gymnasts.

Hardesty announced that although the registration deadline of April 14 has already been surpassed, he will still accept entries for those who missed the date up until this Saturday. So far, instructors have been registered for Franklin Elementary, Jefferson, Lafayette, Lincoln, North Jacksonville, South Jacksonville, Washington, Jacksonville High School, Waverly High School, Murrayville, Illinois School for the Deaf, and several students from MacMurray. The registration fee is only $1. Applications can be obtained from the YMCA Information Desk.

Michigan State wrestlers won an unprecedented fourth straight Big Ten title in 1969. Spartan matmen took six individual titles.

NEA Executive Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — April was no bidding. The American Broadcasting Company decided to take pro basketball on for peanuts.

But now—well, next year when the ABC deal expires, there'll be the same kind of bidding for a suddenly attractive pro basketball package that now exists in football.

"Pro basketball," says Chet Simmons, the NBC director of sports, "has as much future as any sport. The Lew Alcindor thing has helped stimulate interest. They've done an excellent job of expanding into new areas. There's a great amount of new players, which means fresh faces and competition. San Diego made the play offs in the first year."

From his eyrie in the CBS building at corner of 52nd and the Avenue of the Americas, Bill MacPhail, vice-president in charge of sports, muses, "Five years ago, it died. The NBA was looking for a network. Now it probably is the most attractive winter package there is. It beats our hockey, three to two. The difference is unbelievable."

So look for the three networks to engage next month in a spirited war for NBA rights which will rocket the price into the millions (it's at an estimated $1.5 million annually now), and they'll probably be joined by the Hughes Sports Network.

Meanwhile, there's a competitive boom esthetically, too, stimulated by the spurt of the New York Knicks to championship caliber.

"A good team in New York always is important," notes Simmons, who had a ball one night watching hockey on TV with the audio turned down, listening to the Knicks on radio (they were blacked out locally) and drinking Passover sacramental wine.

The development of Bill Bradley of Princeton as a bona fide professional player in his second year, and his acceptance by the fans, tells a lot about the strides made by pro basketball.

On the open market, one Bill Bradley is worth a couple of Jerry Koosmans (the Mets' 20-game winner)—for the discerning autograph hunter.

Magically, basketball has caught on. And the truest symptom shows up in the towers of the television industry in and around Rockefeller Center. They're beginning to slaver after it as a product for exploitation.

Five years ago, the National Broadcasting Company dropped its pro basketball television package, and nobody was interested in picking it up. In fact, that was one of Walter Kennedy's primary duties upon installation as commissioner of the NBA—to land a TV plum. There

GOLF INSTRUCTIONS TO START THURSDAY

The Spring course for beginners golf instruction will begin at the Jacksonville YMCA on Thursday, April 17. Two separate classes will be offered in the ten week program. One will be from 8:30 to 9:15, and the second from 9:15 to 10:00 p.m.

The program is designed to carry beginners through basic golf rules, club familiarity, stance, grip, swing and balance. Students will also be taught the fundamentals for using all golf clubs, and the courtesy and etiquette of the game.

Both classes are limited to ten students, so advance registration is required. Fee is $8 for members, $15 for non-members. Sessions are held in the gymnasium. Farrell Mitchell, an outstanding local golfer and avid student of the game, is the instructor.

Boost Series Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — World Series winners in 1969 will receive a guaranteed minimum of $15,000 and losers will get at least $10,000 on the basis of 32 shares for each club.

Joe Cronin, American League president, and Warren Giles, National League president, announced the agreement by which the minimum guarantee for the World Series winners will be $484,000. That would figure to $15,000 on the basis of 32 full shares.

The players of each of the two clubs losing the divisional playoffs will receive a minimum of $5,000 under the new plan. The winners, of course, will go into the Series where they will be eligible for the money.

Under the new agreement the first three teams in each of the four divisions will get a share of the Series' player pool.

In 1968 the Detroit Tigers received $10,936 each for beating the St. Louis Cardinals who got $7,079.

The increase in the guaranteed money for the Series makes a baseball's postseason payoff compare more favorably with pro football. The winners of the Super Bowl get $15,000 each and the losers $7,500.

With the 1969 expansion, each of the two major leagues now has 12 clubs divided into two six-club divisions. The two National League division winners will play a best of five series to determine the loop's representative in the World Series. The same format will hold true in the American League.

As in the past, the World Series will be a best-of-seven affair.

Under the old rules of baseball, the World Series players were guaranteed a minimum of $250,000 from the Series to be split 60 per cent for the winners and 40 per cent for the losers. The new plan will raise the guarantee to $800,000 for the two teams, $482,000 for the winners and $318,000 for the losers.

In addition a guaranteed minimum pool of $320,000 was created for the players of the two clubs losing the two best-of-five divisional playoffs.

The gate receipts of the World Series will continue to be allocated substantially as in the past with 15 per cent off the balance into the player pool. Seventy per cent of the player pool goes to the two Series teams to be split on a 60-40 basis and the balance is distributed among the players of other clubs down to the third place finisher in each division.

In addition, one half of the gate receipts from the first three of each of the divisional playoffs will go into a new playoff pool. This will be divided with 30 per cent to the winners and 20 per cent to the losers who would get a minimum of $5,000.

Orioles Outlast Bosox In Battle Of Home Runs

BOSTON (AP) — Baltimore pounded out 16 hits and outlasted Boston Wednesday 11-8 in a game called by rain in the bottom of the eighth despite a spectacular debut by Red Sox rookie Billy Conigliaro, who hit two homers in his first major league start. Seven home runs were hit in the wild game.

Don Buford drove in four runs with a homer and two singles to pace the Baltimore assault. Brooks Robinson smashed a three-run homer, Paul Blair hit a solo shot and Dave Johnson contributed four straight singles.

The 21-year-old Conigliaro, playing right field because his older brother Tony was out with a muscle pull in his leg, struck out his first time up but then drilled solid shots into the left field screen on his next two trips.

George Scott had two homers and two singles for the Red Sox, who hung in until Baltimore wrapped things up with a four-run seventh inning.

SET ATTENDANCE MARK

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks have become the first pro basketball team in an organized league to play before a million or more spectators in one season.

The Knicks said Wednesday that Monday's capacity crowd of 19,500 for the playoff game with Boston—the club's 14th sell-out and seventh in a row—boosted the record-breaking attendance to 1,017,835 for home and road games.

Casper And Jack Co-Favorites For 'Champions'

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper and Jack Nicklaus ruled the co-favorites Wednesday in an elite, 28-man field assembled for golf's $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

The 72-hole test begins Thursday over the fiercely tough La Costa Country Club course, a sprawling, 7,200 yard, par 72 layout that features deep, clinging rough and mammoth greens.

"That rough is really something," said Casper, a two-time U.S. Open champion who finished in a tie for second in the Masters.

"I only played nine holes," Masters champ George Archer quipped. "Then I had to stop and sharpen my wedge. Gets dull from all that grass-cutting."

Casper and Nicklaus were installed as 4-1 choices by Las Vegas bookies, with the 6-foot-6 Archer next at 6-1. Arnold Palmer, like Nicklaus a late arrival, was listed at 7-1 with PGA champion Julius Boros and Gene Littler, the season's leading money winner each at 8-1.

Other top choices include U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino, British Open Champ Gary Player of South Africa, lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand and long-hitting Tom Weiskopf.

The Jacksonville YMCA Judo Club will travel to Beardstown this coming Sunday for a tri-meet with teams from Beardstown and Canton. Competitors will be entered in both individual competition and team competition.

The team event is the first of its kind to be conducted in this area. Each club will be entering five participants for their team, and will compete for the most points in the contest. The individual tournament will start the day's activity, and all competitors will be pointing towards the top two positions.

The contest will start at 2:00 at the Beardstown Judo Club which is located in downtown Beardstown. There is no admission for spectators. Jacksonville YMCA team members entering are: Women—Mary Ann Aring, Ann Ramage, Ratha Green, Susie Yan, Gale Hewitt and Bev Hewitt. Men—Bill Oldenett, Dan Moy, John Ramage, Jim Buck, Henry Jackson, Jack Vineyard, Dave Bergschneider, Jerry Green, Don Asbury and Don Welsh. Coach of the YMCA team is Tony Norvell, 1st Degree Black Belt.

The withdrawal of the British still leaves the French and the Australians vigorously preparing for the elimination trials preparatory to the 1970 Cup match, probably the most famous yacht race in the world.

The British last challenged for the Cup in 1964, their representative, the Sovereign, losing four straight races to the American defender, the Constellation.

The United States never has lost the series since it was started in 1851.

In the last challenge, in September 1967, the Intrepid beat back Australia's Dame Pattie in four straight races.

QUARRY BOXER OF MONTH

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, Calif., was named Fighter of the Month by Ring Magazine Wednesday for his lopsided victory over Buster Mathis.

Quarry also was boosted from No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders to No. 3 moving ahead of Sonny Liston. Mathis, will be permitted Dec. 8-14.

Seventy-one counties will be open for deer hunting with shotguns or muzzle-loading rifles again this year. The entire state is open for bow hunting.

McCarthy Still Backs Baseball

AMHERST, N.Y. — (NEA) — Every afternoon kids gather on the banks of Ellicott Creek and fill the muddy water with fishing lines in a scene that smacks of Huckleberry Finn.

But nobody catches fish. "They're after bullfrogs," says Joe McCarthy, an expert on the subject. "Hear that croaking? Sounds like crickets, doesn't it? But it's the bullfrogs. In the summer they really croak up a storm. My hearing isn't what it used to be, but every day when I get up the first thing I hear are those frogs."

Joe McCarthy is 82 now, and a virtual recluse. He spends his mornings reading on the back porch of the white brick farmhouse he owns on South Ellicott Creek Road in this tiny hamlet near Niagara Falls, and in the afternoon he switches to the front porch so he can watch the kids catch frogs. The only time he leaves the house is to make weekly trips to the grocery store and the bank.

Yet, for all the solitude, Joe McCarthy says he still gets worked up now and then... about baseball.

McCarthy managed in the major leagues for 24 years, had nine pennant winners and seven World Series titles. He had the Yankees in the heyday of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and later, Joe DiMaggio. He retired in 1950 after managing the Boston Red Sox for two seasons, and the star of those Boston teams, Ted Williams, is making his debut as a manager himself this season.

"I don't worry about Ted," McCarthy says. "He knows what he's doing. He was a great student of the game when I had him. Always observing, always thinking. He didn't have to come back to baseball, but he did and that tells you something about the man. I don't know what kind of team he has in Washington, but he will do all right for himself if he has any talent at all to work with."

McCarthy says he hasn't seen a big league game in person since 1966 when he last appeared at Oldtimer's Day at Yankee Stadium. His wife has been bedridden the last five years, the result of a broken hip that never healed properly. He employs five people around the house—three nurses who provide care for his wife; a cleaning woman who lives in an adjacent bungalow, and a handyman.

"I don't hear from very many people anymore," he says. "I get a call from Frank Crosetti whenever he stops in Buffalo or Cleveland and sometimes I hear from Tommy Henrich, who lives in Ohio. They don't even know me at the corner grocery store anymore. They used to. Every time I came in they'd make a fuss, but not anymore. The place changed hands a few years ago and these new folks are strictly business."

"But I'm not complaining. On summer nights I sit out on the front porch in my rocker, think about the old days, and listen to the frogs. What more can a man of 82 ask out of life?"

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Frazier may be lost to the New York Knicks for the critical playoff game with the Celtics in Boston Friday night in the Eastern Division playoff final of the National Basketball Association.

The Knicks said Wednesday that the 6-foot-4 guard from Southern Illinois pulled a groin muscle in the final minute of Monday's game at Madison Square Garden, won by the Knicks 112-104.

The Celtics lead in the series, three games to two, and need only one more victory to go into the NBA championship series against the Western winner.

DEER PERMITS WILL BE AVAILABLE SOON

SPRINGFIELD — Sportsmen who will hunt deer on land they own and live on may apply for free permits beginning Sunday, June 1, William L. Rutherford, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, announced Wednesday.

Absentee owners of farmland may purchase permits for $5 from June 1 through June 20 to hunt on their farms. Applications for these permits must be approved by conservation officers assigned to counties in which the farms are located.

Starting June 23, all other sportsmen may apply for permits. Applications postmarked prior to June 21 will be returned to the sender. Bow hunting permits will be issued starting June 1.

Arenzville Trinity Aid Names Officers

ARENZVILLE — Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid met Thursday, April 3, for an all-day meeting at the church basement. Mrs. Louis Kniep led the prayer, the Scripture reading, and the topic, "Sacrament of the Altar."

Mrs. William Maschmeier was in charge of the business session at which a number of reports were given. A committee for the May Anniversary meeting was appointed. Delegates and alternates were chosen for the June LWML District convention to be held at Vandalia.

The visiting committee members for April and May are Mrs. Homer Fricke and Mrs. Bertha Kleinschmidt.

Furnishing refreshments for the Ward activity at the Jacksonville State hospital, through the Volunteer Service Program, were Mrs. Willard Peck, Mrs. John Phelps, Mrs. Eda Roegge, and Mrs. Elmer Roegge.

A slate of officers was endorsed by the members as follows: president, Mrs. William Maschmeier; vice president, Mrs. John Phelps; secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Meyer; treasurer, Mrs. William Huppe; pianist, Mrs. Marvin Ommen; cheer and publicity secretary, Mrs. Josephine Janssen; Christian service secretary, Mrs. Harold Roegge.

A number of women quilted during the day.

Serving the noon luncheon were Mrs. Harold Roegge, Mrs. Elmer Lovekamp, Mrs. Grace Schnitker, and Mrs. Walter Lovekamp.

Gordon Ham and Tony Thomas visited in St. Louis Thursday with Miss Rena Ham. They all attended the Glen Campbell show at Kiel Auditorium. Miss Ham returned home with them to spend Easter with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Ham, and Gordon, Jim, Mike and Steven. She was accompanied back to St. Louis on Monday by Richard Ahrens, who had also spent Easter with the Hams.

Home from West Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curry of Rushville and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas and Alan returned Sunday after a ten-day vacation trip to Phoenix, Ariz., where they were with Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and sons, Danny, Jimmy and Ken-ny. Mrs. Wilson is a sister of Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Curry. They also visited with Mrs. Louise Lindgren, who is spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Eddington.

Miss Cheryl Burrus of Normal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burrus; Miss Annis Clark and Toni Clark of Illinois College, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark; Todd Bischoff, United Electronics Institute, son of Rev. and Mrs. George Bischoff.

Rodney Nobis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nobis, and Eddie Zulauf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zulauf, both of Canton Junior College.

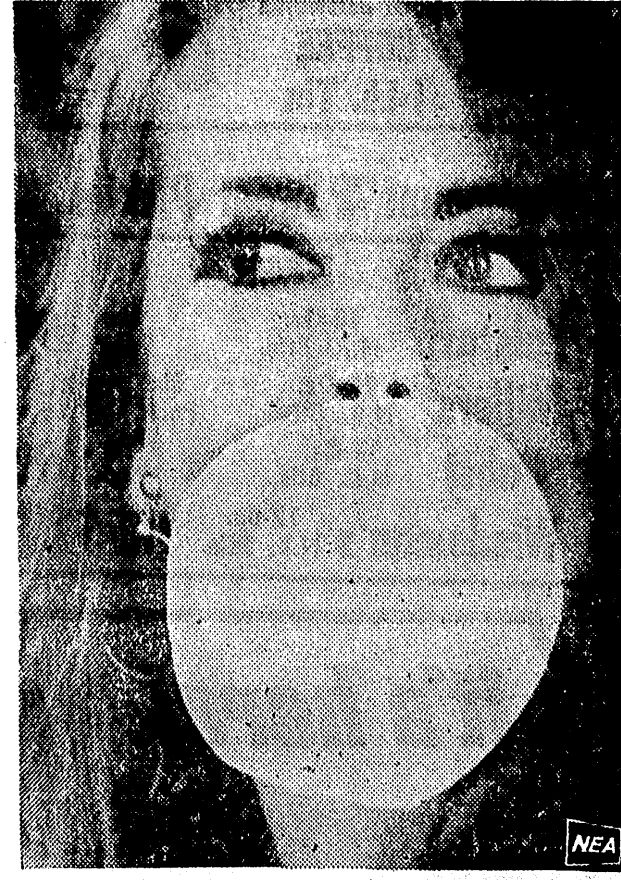

Mrs. Amelia Dyches was a guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schnitker.

Cass County History books are available at the Arenzville Elevator, and from Mrs. Esther Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Meyer and family of Rankin spent the weekend with Mrs. Rosa Meyer and visited with other relatives in the area.

Miss Jane Ann Nobis, a student at the University of Missouri in Columbia, spent the week prior to Easter with her grandmother, Mrs. H.S. Clark.

Mrs. George Bischoff has been notified that an article, "Chancel Drama in the Rural Church," which she wrote, has been accepted for publication in This Day magazine, a monthly publication of the Concordia Publishing House, St. Louis. The date for the appearance of Mrs. Bischoff's article has not been announced.

BUBBLING OVER, actress Natalie Wood chews bubble gum during a break in filming her latest movie. Miss Wood is returning to the screen after a two-year absence.

Pentagon Reforms Under McNamara Make Tenure As Defense Head Outstanding

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One by one, some key judgments made by Robert S. McNamara during his long domination of U.S. defense policy have unraveled or come under new fire.

However, McNamara's enforcement of civilian control at the Pentagon and his landmark budgeting reforms seem likely to live on as a shining legacy of his record tenure as secretary of defense.

It is a year since McNamara left the Pentagon to become president of the World Bank, and:

—Intelligence reports indicate the Russians have just about caught up with the United States in intercontinental ballistic missiles, five years after McNamara decreed a 1,054 ceiling on U.S. ICBMs.

The former defense chief once said "the Soviets have decided that they have lost the quantitative race, and they are not seeking to engage us in that contest."

—The House Armed Services Committee is investigating a costly Army tank project pushed by McNamara as a joint U.S.-West German development. The six-year-old project has a history of problems.

—The "McNamara Wall," a $1.6 billion scheme for laying an anti-infiltration barrier across South Vietnam, was a flop, although some of the sensors developed for it have been used to advantage to detect North Vietnamese infiltration through Laos, from Cambodia and across the Demilitarized Zone.

—The C5A Galaxy, a giant transport plane developed under a McNamara contracting innovation intended to hold down price, has escalated by at least $1.2 billion. Questioning senators are investigating. Also, first delivery of the C5A has slipped six months.

—The Air Force's F111 fighter plane still is plagued with difficulties. A 13th F111, center of a dispute since its drawing board inception as the TFX, has been lost. The Pentagon, under Capitol Hill prodding, has dropped the Navy F111 version, and the Navy is developing a replacement.

—Army authorities say heli- cently recovered from the effects of a McNamara-ordered cutback in 1965. The reduction had been decreed only a few months before the United States entered the Vietnam war with its troops.

—McNamara's design for a 150,000-man Army National Guard and Reserve select force ready for deployment eight weeks after mobilization has fallen far short of expectations. Authorities say denial of funds to continue extra training and draw-off of equipment to Vietnam were responsible.

Some military officers and other critics contend the passage of time and events show that McNamara was a giant who nevertheless did make some judgment errors.

But there are many in the Pentagon who counter that budgeting and reorganization reforms instituted under McNamara made his seven years as defense secretary the outstanding period in Pentagon history. They predict these reforms will last.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, the Nixon administration's Pentagon chief, has publicly acknowledged his admiration of reorganization actions McNamara took.

Some of those steps involved centralizing for efficiency such activities as intelligence, communications and general procurement.

Perhaps significantly, there is no sign that Laird is changing McNamara's basic budgeting approach, which discarded the old system of splitting the budget among the armed services and substituted a program under which Pentagon programs were planned on a functional basis, looking five years ahead.

During the presidential campaign, candidate Nixon promised to "root out" what he called the whiz kid approach to defense planning.

But Laird is using the systems analysis organization for rational studies underpinning decisions, and he has kept on one of the McNamara "whiz kids" as acting chief of that organization.

Possibly McNamara's most significant contribution—one that is generally acknowledged even by those who question his record on other grounds—was his establishment of unquestioned civilian authority.

"McNamara succeeded in getting control over the defense establishment," said one high civilian official who has served under a series of defense chiefs.

Although the Nixon administration has promised to listen more to senior military advice,

Falsifies Age To Buy Brew At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Alteration of a driver's license to pave the way for beer purchases cost a local defendant $100 and costs in circuit court here Friday.

Associate Circuit Judge Fred W. Reither assessed the penalty against Dewey Kirkham who allegedly transposed numbers on his license to make it appear he was older than he actually is. This was the second case of the kind here in the past few weeks.

Several other cases were disposed of in the Lincoln courtroom at the city hall.

Thomas Dugger was fined $25 and costs and placed on probation for a year on charges of shoplifting and two teen age girls were placed on probation, one for 6 months and the other for a year for violating curfew regulations.

Charles Griggs was fined $25 and costs for driving despite the fact his license had been revoked.

Wayne Friday was fined $25 and costs on charges of speeding.

William Sponsler pleaded not guilty to charges of battery and asked for a jury trial.

Divorce
Judge Reither granted a divorce in the case of Dennis M. Reiley versus Marsha K. Reiley on the grounds of mental cruelty. Custody of their son Dennis Michael was awarded to the mother.

Hurt In Crash
Bernard Clark suffered a broken shoulder, three broken ribs and possible internal injuries in an auto accident at Eighth and Lafayette streets Friday night.

His car was involved in a crash with a vehicle driven by Van Ray of Ripley.

It was alleged Ray failed to come to a halt at the intersection, and he was ticketed for failure to observe the stop sign regulation.

Clark is employed at the Superway in the meat department.

Laird has shown he intends to keep a firm hand on everything—and the McNamara precedent will help him carry it off.

Some of McNamara's military hardware decisions which caused great furor have held up well, and the controversy has died out.

Over strong Air Force and congressional objections, he persuaded President John F. Kennedy to cancel the Skybolt thousand-mile range missile in late 1962.

McNamara held that delays, rising costs, unreliability and advances in other weapons made the airplane-launched missile a liability.

McNamara also defied Congress in junking the B70 bomber, a 2,000-mile-an-hour airplane.

At the time he acted, cutting the project to only two planes in 1964, the defense chief said it would be "a serious waste of the nation's resources" because, in his opinion, it would be vulnerable to sophisticated Soviet defenses.

Although $1.5 billion had been spent on the B70, McNamara estimated his decision probably saved the United States another $8.5 billion.

The Vietnam war, and particularly limitations he imposed on the air war against North Vietnam, probably brought him the most bitter criticism from senior military officers and hawks in general.

Those who claim the air war could have been successful in forcing North Vietnam to the sary.

conference table earlier argue that McNamara's policy of carefully controlled application of air power permitted the North Vietnamese to adjust their defenses and national psychology to the attacks.

Critics have called this policy "gradualism" and it split McNamara from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As in the case of the helicopter production slash, members of Congress complained that McNamara was not sufficiently foresighted in gearing up for the fighting in Vietnam.

They blamed him for reported bomb shortages, which at one point made the Defense Department buy back at more than 10 times the original price some 750-pound bombs which had been sold to the Germans as surplus.

Navy admirals, who for years sought heavy appropriations to modernize the aging fleet, now bitterly blame McNamara for deferring adequate modernization so long that prices have climbed almost vertically.

For years, the Navy warned that the Russians were building a big and formidable fleet of advanced submarines, but McNamara held down on proposals to expand the U.S. attack submarine force.

The final Johnson administration defense budget, sent to Congress in January, acknowledged that the Navy was right and said, "More and better attack submarines may be required in the mid- and late 1970s than we have previously thought necessary."

Works On Exhibit At Mac

Marjorie Sidman, well-known area artist, has an exhibition of her paintings on display in the MacMurray College Campus Center. Her works will be on display through April 30 during the open hours of the Campus Center. The public is invited to attend.

Paintings by Mrs. Sidman have been completed in her post year at Washington University Graduate School of Painting, St. Louis, Mo., and represent work to be submitted toward an M.F.A. degree. She will complete her graduate studies in June, 1969.

A selection of the works at MacMurray will be on exhibition in Steinberg Hall at Washington University in May.

Murray College. This is her second lone showing here in the past four years.

She has been a regular exhibitor in the Central Illinois Exhibition in Decatur for the past several years.

A-Frame Has Exterior Panels Of Aluminum

CHICAGO (AP) — An "A" frame type home designed for leisure living uses insulated exterior aluminum panels.

Peter S. Pedersen Jr., president of Leisure Home Corporation of America, said the expandable system of adding modular units starts with a standard-size home 32 feet by 23 feet and 18 feet high. Unfurnished it will sell for about $6,000 to $8,000.

The principal advantages of the home, aside from the low cost, are the elimination of expensive maintenance problems and maximum resistance to fire, rot, termites and moth-eaters.

Designed for summer homes, ski lodges and retirement living, the aluminum home rests on a foundation slab of concrete or a wooden base.

A two-story unit permits two to four bedrooms and a variety of floor plans.

Earn Things Money Can Buy—And Some Things It Can't

Our newspaper carrier boys earn a good weekly commission. Plus tips. This gives them pocket money with which to buy things they want and need, like supplies for worthwhile hobbies.

But there are some things money can't buy. And being a carrier boy helps supply these things, too. You gain extra confidence because you go into business for yourself. You learn responsibility. You learn a bit of book-keeping. You establish contacts which can help you when you complete your education. Most important—you learn how to get along with people.

If you're 12 years old or more, and want things that money can buy, and can't buy, phone or write the circulation manager of this newspaper. We'll send a counselor to your home.

Carol Stephenson

Local Woman Joins In Missionary Work

"I want to use my life for something worthwhile, to make it count for something," says a 21-year-old college senior, whose words are typical of the 76 young men and women invited to train as missionary journeymen by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board. They were employed April 10, pending successful completion of eight weeks of summer training.

They are college graduates or candidates for graduation, under 27 years of age, who will use their skills in working alongside career missionaries overseas for two years.

One of the participants in the program is Carol Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Stephenson, Jr., 5 Havendale Ct. Miss Stephenson is employed for nursing at Eku Baptist Hospital and School of Nursing, Eku, Nigeria.

She currently teaches at Hendrick Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Abilene, Tex.

A co-ed who will teach the children of the missionaries and serve as librarian in a Baptist theological seminary in Malaysia, says: "Now that I am about to finish college, there is so much that I want to share. That's why I want to be a journeyman—to share, to give—because God continues every day to give to me."

Following their training and commissioning as journeymen the young people will tackle a variety of about 20 jobs in 31 countries. Nearly half of them are assigned to teach, in Baptist schools for nationals or in schools for missionaries' children. Seven nurses, two medical technologists, and a physical therapist will join the staffs of Baptist medical facilities in several countries.

Youth and student work leaders, secretaries, journalists, social workers, a radio and television technician, a literacy counselor, and a publication assistant will fill most of the other job openings.

In giving reasons for seeking journeyman assignments most of the youths project a mixture of idealism and desire to broaden mental horizons. As a 26-year-old college science teacher puts it, "I applied because I think God can use my wish to help others, but I also am interested in travel and in other people, their languages and cultures."

The young Baptists come from 20 states. Eleven are ministers' children, and all indicate that Christian nurture in their homes and churches has been important in molding their personalities. Forty-five percent have had experience as summer missionaries, some of them overseas but most in the States. About half have attended Southern Baptist-related colleges.

The Missionary Journeyman Program is entering its fifth year of giving Baptist youths opportunities to apply their talents and faith in challenging situations. Annual enlistment in the program has grown steadily from 46 in 1965 to the current 76.

Rev. Robert W. Fields, Southern Baptist missionary to Israel, will direct journeyman training this summer. Appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1962, Mr. and Mrs. Fields returned to the States last year for their furlough, and he has since worked with the Board's department for missionary personnel as a special representative for the Midwest.

Training will begin June 14 at Virginia Intermont College, Bristol. The rigorous curriculum will include languages, histories, and cultural factors of the countries to which the journeymen will go, plus Christian doctrine, Bible, missions, evangelism, training in special skills, health and personal development, and physical education.

When training is completed, the journeymen will be commissioned in a public service in Richmond, Va., on August 7. They will leave soon thereafter for their overseas posts.

Dr. Stanley A. Nelson is the Board's associate secretary for missionary personnel in charge of the Journeyman Program.

Ogilvie's State Law Bureau Moves Ahead

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's proposed state department of law enforcement forged ahead in the Illinois legislature Wednesday despite doubts voiced by Republicans and Democrats.

The legislation advanced to the Senate floor from the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Clouds hanging over it included whether it might sap the initiative of local law enforcers, with relatively less authority, men, equipment and money.

A new Illinois "little FBI", new investigation and prosecutory power in the hands of the state attorney general, and fogged state - local police jurisdictions cropped up as questions about the plan.

Democrats abstained from voting in the committee. Some of the seven Republicans who voted favorably said they did so only to reduce the committee load. The Republicans said they would pursue study of the bill on the Senate floor.

The measure is a companion to a bill approved earlier this week by the Senate Executive Committee to create a new department of corrections.

That bill, which also went to the Senate floor, will embrace the penal institutions, the youth commission and the pardon and parole board. The youth commission is now independent.

Those other correctional functions are now under the department of public safety along with these law enforcement functions which would be put under the new department of law enforcement: state police, investigation, identification, fire marshal, assistance to local police, and communications.

Sen. Hudson Sours, R-Peoria, said he was concerned about how many millions it may cost.

Sours is a co-chairman of the Illinois State Crime Investigating Commission.

"I also consider that the Republican hegemony will not be in control forever," Sours said. "I might be critical about some of the people who are given these powers if the other party were in control."

"We are not creating something just for the Ogilvie terms — whether it be one, two or something just short of eternity."

Sen. Albert E. Bennett, R-Chicago, announced that Public Safety Director Herbert Brown had withdrawn Ogilvie's plan to put under the state police the automobile investigators currently operating under Secretary of State Paul Powell, a Democrat. Bennett said Brown had found his current administrative burdens heavy enough.

One of the amendments the committee adopted was proposed by Atty. Gen. William J. Scott. Scott said the amendment clarified his jurisdiction so his agents could act on the local level.

Sen. Alan Dixon, Democratic minority whip, questioned the scope of the plan. He noted that others senators' inquiries indicated they were worried whether giving the attorney general and state police new powers might cause a deterioration of financing and activity on the local law enforcement level.

Clayton Harbeck, representing the Illinois Sheriff's Association, and Sal Pisano, representing the Illinois Police Benevolent Association, both said they had reservations about the plan.

Harbeck said his association was not consulted, and added "It's obvious some people don't regard the small town cops, and the sheriff with great esteem. But they are still one of the great law enforcement agencies."

He also leaves four brothers: Dean of California, Russell, Chester and Ted, all of Winchester and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Campbell of California and Mrs. Isabelle Price of Florissant, Mo.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. this afternoon at the Milton Christian church with Reverend Ronald Smith and Reverend William Bottens officiating. Burial will be in Green Pond cemetery.

Friends may call at the Hanks Funeral Home in Pearl.

Scott Plans Training For Ex-Servicemen

By Naomi Lawson
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — Plans are being made to hold a farm training program for returning servicemen in Scott County. Instructors are available if there is enough interest among those who qualify for such training.

Only those returning servicemen who are full-time farmers are eligible. Those attending would pay a portion of the instructor's salary and their own transportation from an amount allotted to them by the government.

The payment to each eligible student would be approximately $90 per month. Each enrollee would be expected to attend a fixed number of hours each week for a fixed number of weeks, depending on how the classes were set up.

Any returning serviceman who is interested in the proposed training may contact George Myers at the local Extension office, Tom Benz of the Farmer's Home Administration or William H. Campbell of the Scott County ASOS office in Winchester.

Members of the city's fire department bagged candy Wednesday in preparation for second candy sale this year to benefit the second annual Firemen's Fourth of July Celebration at Nichols Park.

The candy will be sold Friday and Saturday by fourth through eighth grade students. The top salesmen and ladies will receive prizes for their efforts.

This year, firemen have made arrangements to give each candy seller a ticket to the Nichols Park swimming pool for every three bags sold.

The Fourth of July celebration, featuring games, contests and fireworks will run for two days.

Japanese Professor New Visiting Lecturer

Professor Tokihiko Shinoda of Shinna Woman's University in Kobe, Japan, has arrived on the campus of Illinois College to be the current visiting Asian professor teaching and lecturing on the campus and in the surrounding communities.

According to Dr. Malcolm F. Stewart, the Jacksonville area coordinator for the Asian professors project, Shinoda will teach two courses and will accept personal appearance requests from area clubs and organizations.

The public may attend without charge the course, "Asian Studies 226," which meets at 3 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays in Ramblekamp Room 7, and also the weekly series of two-hour evening lectures at 7 p.m. Thursdays in Crispin, lecture hall.

The evening topics are: April 17, "Japan's Contact with Mainland Asia and Europe"; April 24, "Religion of Japan"; May 1, "Constitution and Government of Japan"; May 8, "School Education and Social Problems"; May 15, "Literature of Japan"; May 22, "Japanese Arts"; and May 29, "Japan's Role in the World."

Professor Shinoda studies at Yamaguchi Middle School and Hiroshima Teachers College. He received the B.A. in English literature and philosophy in 1947 from Hiroshima University. He also has studied at Kobe University, and in 1957-58 he was a Fulbright Scholar at the University of Michigan Graduate School.

June Draft Call Lowest Total In 1969 Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon asked the Selective Service System Wednesday to draft 25,900 men in June.

A total of 23,900 will go to the Army and the remaining 2,000 to the Marines.

It will be the lowest draft call so far in 1969, comparing with the high of 33,700 inductees sought in February.

At the same time, the Pentagon said increased voluntary enlistments by physicians and optometrists will allow a reduction of almost one half in planned inductions of medical men this year.
